Government Asks City Market Order to Push Work Received

By HARRY L. SULLY

Instructions from Washington, direct from the food division of the Council of Defense, urging that municipal marketing facilities be provided, were received today by Mrs. James Hamilton, supervisor of war garden work in Oakland.

"Push the development of local marketing facilities that the waste of last year may be avoided," the order read.

The members of the board of park directors have granted Mrs. Hamilton and the board of market directors the use of the city hall plaza during the period of the war for a public market, or any other central park that may be found suitable for the purpose in view.

Two other suggestions are under consideration. One is that Jefferson Square at Jefferson and Tenth and Eleventh streets, may be utilized. The other is that the Southern Pacific may be asked to grant the temporary use of its land at Fourteenth and Webster streets for a market. Mayor Davie and members of the city council are said to be favorable to either of these two proposals.

"Nothing is too good to aid in saving food and to help win the war," declared Dr. L. F. Herrick of the board of park directors, in announcing that the park department would grant the use of the City Hall plaza. "It will only be for the period of the war, and what if the grass is trampled for a time? It is easy in California to plant a new lawn.

"These women working on the war garden campaign have done wonderful service. Their work is now coming to fruition. Something must be done right away if waste is to be avoided, and there is nothing so criminal today as waste of food.

"CAN HAVE PLAZA
IF THE WANT IT."

"So they can have the plaza if they need it, and put up stalls and awnings on it facing the street, and they can use it as long as they need it. I have conferred with Dr. S. H. Buetau of the board, and he stands with me on this. I have not ben in touch with Walter D. Cole, but I feel sure that he will be for it, as he is for anything that will help win the war.

"I am glad this matter is coming to a head," said Harmon Bell, food administrator of Oakland and head of the Oakland War Service league. "The time has come for action.

"A central location should be provided for this public market to accommodate the wagons of the farmers and to provide booths and stalls for the produce from the war gardens. I am not prepared to say what is the best of the sites suggested, but I think that the authorities should act at the earliest possible moment to provide these necessary marketing facilities."

"No place in the city is too good for the marketing of food products, when that means reduced costs and the elimination of waste," declared Mrs. A. E. Stone, one of the members of the Oakland Board of Market Directors. "When we realize what they are sacrificing over there in France, what our men are sacrificing, it is little enough for us to set aside something that is merely a luxury and make it perform some useful service.

"In a recent speech, Daniel Reel of the National Food Administration said: 'There would be no politics in America, if we really understood what was going on over the water! Let me say that one of the best things we can do to help win the war is to keep the homes in America normal, to keep the children well nourished, to keep conditions in the families up to a living standard. In this the reduction in the cost offered is the primary need.

JEFFERSON SQUARE
SUGGESTED BY MAYOR

"So let us get to work, and do something here in the city to help ourselves and to help the nation. Let us establish a central free market where the producers can come and dispose of their products and where waste will be eliminated."

Mrs. Stone stated that she had talked with Mayor Davie since Monday, when she and Mrs. Hamilton went before the city council and asked for the use of the city hall plaza. She said that Mayor Davie had suggested the use of Jefferson Square. Jefferson Square was the site recommended by the Board of Market Directors in its original report to the city council, and the establishment of the first unit of a market there at this time woud have the advantage of permanence.

It was ascertained at the time the commission prepared its report that the title to Jefferson Square was such that it could be used for any purpose by the city and was therefore available for the permanent establishment of a public market.

AMERICANS ARE VICTORIOUS IN AMIENS SMASH

By FRED S. FERGUSON.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE FRENCH BATTLEFRONT, May 1 (Night).—The Germans brought up additional artillery, following the arrival of American force in the line here. Fierce duels are in progress. One village has been entirely wiped out.

In the last forty-eight hours the American guns have raked the roads and the villages in the rear of the German lines, and have barraged their front lines.

The boche poured in high explosive shells, in retaliation, the duels continuing through the night. The Americans ultimately neutralized the German fire.

While the exact location of the American troops before Amiens has not been officially announced from American sources, the French war office a week ago referred to "Franco-American positions" between Hangard-En-Santerre and Hailles.

About a mile east of Hangard and back of the German lines, is the important town of Demuin. Villers-Aux-Erables is about three miles south and west of Demuin and two miles from the Luce.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 1.—Captain Norman Hall and Eddie Rickenbacher, American aviators, yesterday divided the honor of destroying a Boche plane over the German lines. Each modestly gives the other entire credit for the feat.

The German plane, an Alabatros, was sighted about 6 o'clock in the evening, at a height of 1800 meters.

As the two Americans arose to the attack, the enemy machine opened fire and fled. The Americans pursued the machine over the enemy lines, firing several hundred rounds. The German machine suddenly dived to earth, spouting flames and smoke.

The Americans by this time were flying so low that their planes were struck by bullets by German infantrymen, but they returned to the American lines.

Hall, whose home is in Colfax, Iowa, was formerly a member of the La Fayette Escadrille and has several planes to his credit.

Rickenbacher is a former automobile race driver and formerly drove General Pershing's car. His home is in Columbus, Ohio. This was his first victim.

FIVE MILLION MAN ARMY IS BAKER'S PLAN

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—A bill to limit the number of drafted men in the army to four million, with a view to an army of not exceeding 5,000,000, including volunteers, if that maximum strength is necessary, was introduced today by Chairman Dent of the House Military Committee.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—An American army of three million combatant troops will be asked of Congress by Secretary of War Baker when he appears on Capitol hill tomorrow to tell what he now finds necessary to make American arms successful in Europe, it was learned today.

The question of increasing American fighting strength has been threshed out by the President and Secretary Baker and the entire cabinet also learned the details at yesterday's meeting.

The very minimum of actual fighting men, exclusive of auxiliary troops, demanded by the situation is 3,000,000, the secretary is convinced, very largely by his visit to the battle front.

Secretary Baker will appear before the House military affairs committee to make known the administration's war plans for the next fiscal year, Chairman Dent announced. Provost Marshal General Crowder will appear with the secretary to submit estimates of the numbers of men that can be raised under the draft during the next twelve months without interfering with industries necessary to the prosecution of the war.

A fighting total of 3,000,000 would involve a total army establishment of approximately 5,000,000 men, it is pointed out. There would have to be 1,500,000 auxiliary and replacement troops and about 500,000 others for emergencies. Already there are before Congress bills providing for drafts that would bring these totals and it is doubted if any serious objection to Baker's plans will develop although details may be contested.

Indications that the War Department has decided not to accept any additional national guard units in the forces sent abroad, was seen today in an order telegraphed to the governor of Minnesota, instructing him to disband the Second Minnesota Infantry. The Minnesota authorities were anxious to have the unit in service as concrete evidence of the loyalty of the districts in which it was formed.

BENEDICT TO TRY MAY 19 FOR PEACE OVER WORLD

His Proposal Will Be of a More Pressing Nature Than Formerly and Will Contain Concrete Offers of Mediation

HUNS RECEIVE NEWS SYMPATHETICALLY

Prussian Diet Sees Stormy Scene Over Proposal to Postpone Question of Electoral Reform Until After the War

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

THE HAGUE, May 1.—Pope Benedict intends to issue a new peace offer on Whitsunday (May 19), Cologne newspapers announce. The document, it is said, will be of a more pressing nature than formerly and will contain concrete offers of mediation by the Pope with the possible co-operation of neutral sovereigns.

Similar information of the Pope's intention, it is said, has reached Berlin, where it has been received sympathetically.

This is not the first report emanating from Germany recently that the Pope is about to make another peace move. The Neuste Nachrichten, of Munich, Bavaria, according to a London despatch of April 23, said that the Pope would make a peace offer as soon as the western offensive had assumed a new phase.

A despatch from Stockholm Tuesday reported that a message from Basle announced that Emperor Charles of Austria was making a new peace offer, appealing to Italy to consider it in her own interests.

That a "peace offensive" would be made by the central powers in the event that the German offensive on the west appeared abortive has been predicted frequently in allied capitals. This may be the beginning.

COPENHAGEN, May 1.—Stormy scenes occurred in the Prussian diet on Tuesday when a member of the center proposed that the question of electoral reform be postponed until after the war, said a despatch from the frontier today. Soldiers participated in the debate.

Liberal members strongly rejected the proposal for delay and predicted serious consequences.

Herr Hoffman, an independent Socialist, declared that if the proposal to delay the reforms was accepted he would ask the soldiers not to fight any longer. This caused great excitement and there were cries of "Traitor!"

After excited debate the proposal was rejected.

Count von Hertling, the chancellor, advocated general suffrage.

Herr Portsch, a minority center member, spoke in favor of a general election.

The Prussian diet is the law-making body for the kingdom of Prussia, aside from the Reichstag, which represents the German empire. The question of electoral reform has long been advocated in Prussia and has proved the vital question of domestic politics since the beginning of the war.

LONDON, May 1.—The position of Count von Hertling, German chancellor, has been imperiled by the possibility that the Prussian Diet may reject the franchise bill, said an Amsterdam despatch to the Express today.

The chancellor had pledged himself to pass the measure, announcing he would stand or fall by it. According to forecasts, the message will be defeated by about thirty votes.

Hun Officer Taken as Spy "Paymaster"

NEW YORK, May 1.—Germany's spy "paymaster" in the United States has been arrested by secret service agents. He was taken into custody somewhere on Long Island. Government officials refused to divulge his name, but he is declared to be a lieutenant-commander in the German army. The man is said to be the head of enemy propaganda in America, having been delegated to this work by Count von Bernstorff when the former German ambassador left this country.

ALLIES' FIRM DEFENSE IS IMPASSABLE FOR ENEMY

Staggered by the Blow Before Ypres, General von Armin Is Utterly Unable to Drive His Hun Hordes Any Further

TWO BABIES FOUND IN TEUTON TRENCHES

British and French Forces Are Confident Kaiser's Shattered Armies Cannot Attain Goal, Despite Their Reckless Drives

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS.
United Press Staff Corerspondent.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FLANDERS, May 1.—Staggered by the allied blow before Ypres Sunday, General von Arnim sparred for time yesterday and last night, utterly unable to push on.

Save for considerable shelling in the back areas from Ypres westward toward Hazebrouck, and except for small raids and outpost clashes, the last twenty-four hours have been conspicuously calm.

The Germans doubtlessly will try again to turn the nest of hills southwest of Ypres, but Sunday's jolt compelled a shift of the enemy divisions.

This shift will require hours and perhaps days of preparation, depending on the severity of the mauling they received Sunday.

I heard upon unimpeachable authority that babies have been found in the firing line, among the dead.

BABIES ARE FOUND IN GERMAN TRENCHES

When the British retook Neuve-Eglise, they found two babies in the German trenches. They were taken to safety below ground. The British were unable to hold the shell-deluged position and the babies were taken with them when the Tommies fell back. They are now doing well in a hosptial, where they are the pets of the nurses.

In a part of the Flanders line two British artilery observers discovered a child which had been separated from its parents. They placed the infant between them in a hay loft, their bodies keeping it warm. From here they watched the Germans' movements.

Shrapnel burst above the barn, killing both men. The baby was found sound asleep between the two corpses. It is now in a British hospital sound and healthy.

HUNS SUSTAIN SERIES OF DISASTROUS LOSSES

LONDON, May 1.—As details of Monday's fighting are received, confirming the fact that it was the worst day the Germans have experienced since the opening of the great offensive, the English newspapers now comment on the operations in a tone of confidence they have not hitherto displayed.

The Times says: "Of all the violent combats witnessed in the last few weeks, we know of none which is a more hopeful augury for the allies than this ten-mile German failure."

It is pointed out that the public is apt to reckon victory in terms of offensive success, but a defensive victory like that on Monday may contribute equally toward the ultimate object of the campaign; namely, destruction of the enemy's fighting strength. From this viewpoint the Germans, despite their spectacular successes, can be regarded as having had the worst of the balance of nearly six weeks' fighting, for it must not be forgotten that they sustained a series of disastrous losses, of which that of Monday was the most sanguinary of the last fortnight.

Indeed, apart from the capture of Kemmel Hill, it has been one complete failure, including four separate defeats in pitched battles. These were on La Bassee Canal, on the Belgian front, at Villers-Bretonneux and now on the Bailleul-Ypres front. The culminating effect of this has been to immensely increase the confidence of the Anglo-French troops, whom the correspondent describes as now feeling that they have got the measure of the new enemy divisions.

Other strokes will undoubtedly come before the German reserves are exhausted, but confidence is felt that wherever the Germans try they will find the allies ready. Now that the attack of no fewer than a hundred thousand Germans has been broken in a sheer trial of strength on ground none too favorable by the thinner allied line, there is a growing hope that Ypres will not be abandoned.

North and South From Ypres Enemy Strikes in Vain to Find Weak Spot

(By United Press)

LONDON, May 1.—"Local enemy attacks on one of our posts in the neighborhood of St. Julien (three miles northeast of Ypres) yesterday was repulsed by machine guns," Field Marshal Haig reported today.

"Enemy posts in the Meteren sector were raided last night and prisoners taken.

"The French improved their positions around Locre last night by a successful minor enterprise."

The entire western front was quiet yesterday, following the severe defeat inflicted on the Germans in the Flanders assault Monday. Field Marshal Haig in his report last night said that "except for local fighting at different points, there has been no infantry action today."

He added that further reports confirm the fact that the enemy's losses were heavy in his unsuccessful attack yesterday. The French, in a successful counter-attack near Locre Monday night, took ninety-five prisoners.

A violent bombardment in the region of Hangard-En-Santerre, south of the Somme, yesterday was reported by the French war office. A German attack was repulsed in the Noyon sector.

CAPTURE OF LOCRE
ADMITTED AT BERLIN

The German war office admitted the recapture of Locre by the French, and claimed the capture of British trenches north of Voormezeele and Vierstraat. Artillery activity in the Kemmel region continued throughout the day, the Germans said.

Although it is too early for anything definite and notwithstanding that the drive in Flanders may be renewed any moment, military officials are more optimistic than for several days.

Whatever follows, the allies have won one phase of the battle in the Flemish hills. They have smashed the Germans in a trial of sheer strength; have inflicted a severe and costly jolt, and have won a notable defensive victory, although the Germans hurled at least 225,000 men into the hills around Ypres.

The press, while cautious, has a brighter aspect than for weeks. It believes Monday's stonewall defense warrants a confidence in the future and speculates as to whether the Germans will now strike elsewhere in pursuit of their recent tactics.

HAIG HAS PRAISE
FOR BRAVE SOLDIERS.

"The enemy's effort to break down the resistance of the British army undoubtedly will fail, if all continue to show the resolve and determined courage characterizing the Nineteenth division," Field Marshal Haig declared today in a general order, congratulating the second army.

Other divisions congratulated were the Ninth, Twenty-fifth, Thirty-first, Forty-ninth and Twenty-first.

An order in council has been issued further postponing the operation of the national service act, or conscription, as it respects Ireland beyond May 1, to which it had been postponed previously. Some of the morning newspapers say the postponement is due to the government's wish to introduce a home rule bill and to see what measure of success it gets before proceeding to enforce conscription in Ireland, which, it is said, in some quarters, is not likely to be attempted in the next few weeks.

Opinion in the lobbies of Parliament is that a home rule bill will be presented in the House of Commons next week.

The imperial entourage has become alarmed at the kaiser's mental condition, says a news despatch from Berlin today, quoting advices that had been received there. The newspaper Epoch stated that the kaiser has become the victim of hallucinations. His advisers are trying without avail to keep him away from the battlefront.

The kaiser constantly speaks of his "divine mission to save the world and humanity."

BATTLE CONTINUES ON FRONT BEFORE AMIENS

PARIS, May 1.—Artillery duels of some intensity occurred last night on the Somme front near Villers-Bretonneux and on both sides of the Avre, southeast of Amiens, says today's war office report.

The statement reads:

"Artillery actions of some violence took place in the region of Villers-Bretonneux and on both banks of the Avre.

"In Lorraine French patrols brought in prisoners.

"The night was quiet on the remainder of the front."

"The general situation on the battlefront is in favor of the allies," Premier Clemenceau has announced in the Chamber of Deputies. This same sentiment is echoed in the press.

M. Hucine, one of the best known of the French war correspondents, declared today that "the German offensive in Flanders is in its last throes."

The Echo de Paris dwells upon the severity of the German losses, saying that losses of the allies are only one-tenth those of the German.

BERLIN (via London), May 1.—An allied attack delivered between Lake Doiran and the Vardar river broke down, according to an official report on Balkan operations issued today by the German war office.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—A call for 8895 additional draft men was issued today by the provost marshal-general. They are to be sent to twenty-two institutions scattered throughout the country for a two-months' course of training in various mechanical studies.

The men will be mobilized May 16, with the exception of those from Virginia, who will be called May 23. They will receive training as automobile mechanics and chauffeurs, machinists, blacksmiths, sheet metal workers, general mechanics, carpenters, electricians, radio operators, concrete workers and telegraphers. They will be unassigned until after the completion of their courses.

Wool Stock Is Seized by Government

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The government today commandeered the entire stock of unsold wool in the hands of dealers and growers and the entire wool clip for the year.

The war industries board, in making the announcement, declared a scale of prices had been agreed upon which would stimulate future production.

Prices were also fixed on raw hides and skins, it was announced. Prices for tanned leather will be agreed upon at a meeting to be called soon.

The commandeering of wool entirely eliminates speculation for the period of the war, dealers being allowed only compensation for actual service in the handling of wool.

Cadet Flyer Killed On Wilbur Wright Field

DAYTON, O., May 1.— While making his first solo flight at Wilbur Wright field today, Flying Cadet Lloyd S. Allen, New York City, fell several hundred feet to his death. As no one was there at the time of the accident, just how it occurred is not known, but the machine came down and crashed through the roof of the school building of unit No. 2. The machine was completely wrecked.

CONSCRIPTION IN IRELAND IS DELAYED

LONDON, May 1.—The News declared today that the government has decided to hold the Irish conscription policy in abeyance, at least for a few weeks, to "see how the home rule bill takes."

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Though anticipated, the announcement from London of the postponement of the application of the conscription act to Ireland was received with great relief here. Concern had been felt and there have been indications that the Washington administration has let Premier Lloyd-George know that in its judgment application of the Irish conscription act should follow and not precede passage of the home rule act.

With the home rule bill once enacted, giving Ireland a measure of independence fairly comparable with that enjoyed by Canada and Australia, officials here are convinced the Irish in America will not only urge their kinsmen in Ireland to submit to conscription as they themselves have done in America, but if that suggestion is not accepted, will permanently withdraw the large measure of assistance which for generations past they have extended to the Irish at home.

DUBLIN, May 1.—Owing to the Sinn Feiners' demand for more radical action in opposition to Irish conscription, a split is said to be imminent between the Sinn Fein and Irish parliamentarians. A meeting of the Irish party was hastily summoned last night.

Canadian Heirs Now Oppose Investment

Claiming that his clients, heirs of the late Honora Peele of Oakland, are Canadians, and that if the residue of the estate is to be invested in Liberty bonds, the heirs have a right to its being invested to the credit of Canada. Attorney I. F. Chapman today before Judge Joseph S. Koford opposed the application to invest $75,000 of the estate money in bonds to the credit of Alameda county.

The estate has been appraised at $300,000, all but the amount of $75,000 being bequeathed to heirs at law by the will, the remainder having been willed to Protestant charitable institutions in Hamilton, Ontario. It was learned that there are no such institutions legally qualified to receive the bequest, and the heirs at law applied to have the money distributed to them. Then it was that the proposal was made to invest the sum in Liberty bonds, but so much opposition having developed, the matter has been held up and is now further continued.

Judge Koford Speaks at Maccabees Meet

Superior Judge Joseph S. Koford spoke at a meeting of the Knights of the Macabees last night at their hall at Eleventh and Franklin on the subject of "Patriotism and Its Relation to the Government."

The meeting was occasioned by the presence in Oakland of Supreme Commander Honorable Daniel P. Markey of Detroit, for twenty-five years head of the organization and one of the leaders in fraternal insurance.

Judge Koford said in the course of his talk that "patriotism in its large respect is the love and service of a nation. And for the purpose, a nation is not constituted by territory and population, but is constituted by the soul, ideal, aspiration and institutions of a people. Therefore, patriotism is love and service of those ideals and institutions which we have tried and tested and found to be good."

He Darkened His Gray Hair

They Used to Call Him Grandpa; Now They Call Him Kid.

Tells How He Did It.

Mr. J. A. McCrea, a well-known resident of San Francisco, who was called Daddy and Grandpa on account of his white hair, and who darkened it with a simple home-made mixture, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half pint of water add one ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. My friends now call me 'Kid.'"—Advertisement.

AUTO CROWDED BY WOMAN IS UPSET BY CAR

The automobile was upside down in the middle of the street, but it didn't mind, and its hind-wheels were spinning merrily, while the owner sat on the curb and painfully removed his shoe to discover that his ankle was swelling up like a pouter pigeon. All he said was "If that woman in the big machine who crowded me into the street car is a good sport she will call up and say 'hello.'"

His name is Bob Cates, 6225 Tevis street. He was driving on East Fourteenth street when he was crowded in front of an in-bound car and was hit and overturned. A passing machine stopped and took him to the Receiving hospital, where it was found that his ankle was badly sprained and slightly fractured.

Captain of Raider's Victim Coming Home

Word has been received of the safe arrival in New York of Captain John Stanley Cameron, former master of the ill-fated tanker Beluga, which fell a victim to the German raider, the Sea-Wolf. Cameron with his wife and family have just reached the American coast from Denmark and are en route to California. The message of the safety was contained in a telegram received by Mrs. H. R. Balch, 1410 Henry street, Berkeley, who is caring for Edris Cameron, the mariner's four-year-old daughter.

The Camerons were aboard the Beluga when it was taken prize by the Hun craft. They were transferred to a captured Spanish vessel along with scores of other persons—some 200 in all—taken from other captured craft, and followed the raider for many ... the Wolf on their way to northern waters the Spanish vessel ran aground and was taken in charge by the Danish government, and the prisoners released.

Little Edris Cameron has not seen her father since she was a few months old.

Fruit growers will not be affected by the ruling as there is no restriction on the buying for future delivery.

PARIS ORCHESTRA MAY VISIT CITY

Oakland may, in the next few months, have an official visit from the world-famous Paris Symphony Orchestra, the greatest musical organization in the world. The orchestra, which has never before left Paris, is to be sent to America on a patriotic mission by the French-American Association of Musical Art, and today the Oakland Chamber of Commerce put in a bid for its appearance here.

The orchestra is supported by the French Government, President Poincare being director-in-chief ex-officio of the organization. Others on the directing staff are, General Joffre, Premier Clemenceau, Jules Jusserand, ambassador to the United States; Andre Tardieu, high commissioner to the United States; Rene Viviani, former premier of France; Gaston Liebert and the Marquis De Polignac.

The Chamber plans to present the orchestra in the Municipal Auditorium.

TWO PAGES FOR KIDDIES in great Sunday edition of THE TRIBUNE.

Swiss Subject Is Sent Back 'Tough'; Says 'I Wanted to Fight'

"It's tough luck to be packed off home again just when real fighting was in sight. I'd have been only too glad to have stayed over there and seen it through with the rest of the boys. Anyhow I had a good time."

So declares Emil Ence of 3449 East Fourteenth street, who went to France with the 161st United States Infantry and was promptly sent home again when it was learned that he is a Swiss subject. Under an agreement with that neutral country, Swiss subjects may not be drafted by the United States.

His fighting days thus abruptly terminated before he had a chance to strike a blow for the country of which he intended to become a citizen and where he had taken out his first papers. Emil wonders if international laws couldn't be set aside so he can return to France.

"I was in the first batch to be drafted in Oakland," he said. "We were sent first to Camp Lewis, from there to Camp Mills and then across to France. The boys like it over there. We were well fed and well clothed, and were fattening up after becoming used to the climate, even with hard exercise. I must say I enjoyed the experience and would like to stay with the regiment. We were quartered in a small town and did not get into Paris. Life wasn't very exciting and we had been given no opportunity of meeting the enemy. And now here they have packed me off home when things were about to get interesting."

Ence said he was stationed not far from the Swiss borders and longed to make the trip into Switzerland and visit his parents and other relatives whom he has not seen since he came to this country ten years ago. But the opportunity did not present itself. Ence has a married brother living in this city.

the Liberty loan committee and escorted to the Hotel Oakland, where she will be officially welcomed to the city by Crane Wilbur and Mayor John L. Davie. Following the ceremonies an automobile parade was planned in the downtown section of the city in honor of Miss Dressler.

TROOP 21 LEADS
BOY SCOUTS

Troop 21 of the Boy Scouts of Oakland, according to H. Richards Wilson, Scout executive, still leads the other troops of the city in the number of individual bonds sold in the present campaign which is in its final week. It was this troop which won the presidential flag during the second loan. The young salesmen are enthusiastically endeavoring to retain this honor, as a successful campaign carries with it a reward of the presidential medalion.

To date the boys of Troop 21 hae taken 151 individual subscriptions t a total valuation of $11,650. Troop4 is next in line with sixty-seven subscriptions, but with a larger total valuation, that of Troop 4 being $16,200.

Of the 125 districts into which the city has been divided for the convenience of the Boy Scouts' campaig. District 159, of which Soren Neilsen is captain, leads in the amount of money represented by bond subscriptions as regards the district. This district is covered by a number of the boys of troop 13 and the total valuation of the bonds sold by them is $5600. A total of forty-two bonds have been sold.

District 55, of which Bernard Lewis is captain, leads as a district in the number of bonds sold, the totals being forty-eight bonds sold, at a valuation of $5200.

Four thousand employees of the Moore shipyards subscribed $302,000 for Liberty bonds of the third issue, according to an announcement of the Central National Bank this morning. According to the same authority the employees of the Union Iron Works, numbering between six and seven thousand men, subscribed $250,000, the former outdistancing the latter by $52,000.

The Central National Bank also announced this morning that it had exceeded its own quota in the loan drive by $300,000, having taken in subscriptions for Liberty bonds to the amount of $2,600,000, the allotment of the bank being $2,300,000.

After a partial canvass of the local French residents a total of $24,100 has been obtained in subscriptions for Liberty bonds from that source, according to reports filed with the Liberty loan committee this morning. The canvass of the French residents is being conducted by P. Chanquet, chairman of the French auxiliary of the Liberty loan committee, and H. J. Calou, the auxiliary secretary.

In the opinion of the Liberty loan committee, the subscriptions for Liberty bonds from this source is deserving of particular recognition, inasmuch as the French of this city and of the entire country have been contributing generously ever since the beginning of the war, their contributions going direct to France to aid their fellow-countrymen and the valorous French soldiers.

PURCHASE $21,000
OF LIBERTY BONDS

Employees of the H. C. Capwell Company have purchased Liberty bonds of the third issue to the amount of $21,000, according to a report filed with the local Liberty loan committee this morning. In all of the previous Liberty loans the employees of the concern are reported to have subscribed generously for government bonds, but the distribution of bonds among the employees during the third loan is said to have far exceeded that of the two previous issues. In addition to the total subscription of the employees the firm is reported as having purchased $15,000 worth, making the total subscription from this one source $36,000.

One of the most notable gatherings held in the downtown section during the Liberty loan drive took place this noon in front of the Central National Bank building. The Marine Corps band of eighty pieces, playing patriotic airs and popular war songs, was the principal attraction. Three Liberty loan speakers occupied the platform in front of the bank, each making a brief address on the importance of subscribing to the third Liberty loan. The speakers were Phil M. Carey, Lieutenant J. S. Dagger of the Canadian expeditionary forces and Crane Wilbur. So great was the throng which gathered that it was necessary to stop traffic for several minutes.

The patriotism of Frank Dowd and O. W. Connell of this city is reported to have been rewarded in a unique manner by the local Liberty loan committe, both having been presented with deeds to lots by L. L. M. Salsbury, a business man of this city. Salsbury, it is explained, while speaking to large audiences in front of the Central National Bank recently, offered deeds to two lots to the first men in the audience who would subscribe for $100 Liberty bonds. A general rush is said to have ensued, with Dowd and Connell finishing neck-and-neck. One is reported to have been awarded a lot in Ben Lomond and the other a lot in Richmond.

Among the largest subscriptions that have been made locally for Liberty bonds in the past two days are the following:

Oakland and San Francisco Terminal Railways, $70,000; Fageol Motor Company, $12,000; Marie Pearce, $10,000; Florence Locke, $5000; W. H. Bechtel, $5000; Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, $5000; W. B. Quigley, $5000.

The following local institutions have been reported as being additional 100% subscribers to the third Liberty Loan by the Business Men's Committee:

JACKSON BEATS RAT GRAFT CHARGE

After a hearing which lasted for more than two hours last night, the civil service board sustained the appeal of Lewis C. Jackson, a colored deputy sanitary inspector who was recently discharged by Commissioner Jackson following the preferring of charges of graft against him by Charles Albright and Frank Mueller, "rat-proofing" contractors.

Albright testified that he had been obliged, upon solicitation of Jackson, to pay over a certain percentage of the amount he collected for rat-proofing work done for different business houses in the downtown district.

For his part, Jackson, who was represented by Attorney Frank McGuire, claimed that the extras on the bill represented money advanced to him by the contractors with which to purchase poison to be distributed in the buildings by himself. The board members were curious as to whether Jackson ever set the poison, which cost from $2 to $5 and from whom he had purchased it.

The deputy inspector insisted that he had bought poison from a man in Alameda at different times. He was uncertain as to which amounts given him by Albright had been used to buy poison for a particular job.

The charges originated in the department of public health and safety. In several other cases charges have been laid directly before the civil service board and referred back to the department with recommendations of dismissal, which, consistently have not been followed. In no case have the board and Commissioner Jackson been able to agree.

MUSEUM TO HAVE MUSK OX GROUP

It's a long, long trail from the Robert E. Peary North Polar explorations to the Oakland Public Museum; and yet a little band of Arctic musk-oxen have traveled it, and a few days ago arrived at their final home within the museum walls. They came from Ellesmere Land, one of the areas northwest of Greenland, where Peary made extensive explorations.

Four animals, adults and young, are in the family; they were acquired through the American Museum of Natural History in New York, and will be arranged in a group showing their native surroundings as soon as possible.

Musk-oxen are animals of the Arctic regions, well fitted to inhabit these forbidden areas where life seems almost impossible for man or beast. They are covered with a heavy coat of hair, sometimes reaching a length of twelve to fourteen inches. Then underneath, next to the skin, is a dense growth of soft, fur-like hair that excludes both cold and moisture, and equips them admirably to survive the rigors of the long, Arctic winters.

The Eskimo hunt the musk-oxen in summer and keep the meat for winter use, curing the skins for bedding or other domestic use; and if hard-pressed for food in winter will sometimes venture a musk-ox hunt with dogs and lances or guns. When threatened, a single musk-ox will back up to a rock or cliff and face the enemy; and a herd will gather in a group with cows and calves in the center, and the bulls facing outward, awaiting with threatening horns the onslaught of the dogs. The Eskimo then approach within striking distance and shoot or hurl their lances. Wounded animals are often very ferocious, so there is more than a spice of danger in the hunt.

FOURTH KAISER "HOCKER" JOINS CHAIN GANG

So well did three of the convicted "kaiser hochers" enjoy their outing on the chain gang, making little ones out of big ones on the western waterfront, yesterday, that another "hocher" joined the party this morning, making four now taking exercise with tools and implements furnished by the city.

Dr. H. E. Franck, William C. Deusing and C. E. Schilling went out yesterday and today Gustav Lindemann went along. Besides the "hochers" there are a score of other prisoners in the party at work at the western end of Seventh street.

Union Men Will Picnic at Neptune

Union labor men of San Francisco and Alameda county will hold forth at Neptune Beach, Alameda, next Sunday when Carpenters' Union, No. 1473, and Barbers' Union, No. 148, hold their annual picnics. The committees from both unions are cooperating to make the day one of the biggest ever staged at the big Alameda amusement resort and a gala program is being arranged for the occasion.

Invitations have been sent to all the unions about the bay and thousands of members of other crafts will assist the carpenters and barbers to make merry.

The program of athletic sports is in the hands of a competent committee. Six swimming races are scheduled for the big tank between members of the various rowing clubs about the bay who will stage their annual meet and there will also be races for members of the unions.

The big platform on the beach will be occupied by boxers and wrestlers while picnic parties will have the beach all to themselves.

Additional attractions have been especially installed for the occasion including a new Ferris wheel, a "kill-the-kaiser" gun and many other amusement devices.

Valuable gate prizes will be offered and trophies will be awarded winners of all events both in the tank and on the platform.

ASSASSIN WHO STARTED WAR IS DEAD

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

THE HAGUE, May 1.—Gabreel Principe, whose assassination of the Austrian archduke, Francis Ferdinand, at Sarajevo, was one of the causes of the great war, died Tuesday of tuberculosis at the fortress of Theresienstadt, near Prague, it was learned here today.

Principe, then a youth of 18, shot the archduke and his morganatic wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, on the main street of Sarajevo, Bosnia, on the morning of June 28, 1914. He used an automatic pistol, firing into the royal automobile as it passed. The archduke was shot through the head and the duchess through the throat.

The shooting closely followed another attempt at assassination. A bomb was thrown into the archduke's automobile, but he warded it off with his arm and it fell under the machine following.

The assassination resulted in an Austrian ultimatum to Serbia, which was accused of instigating the plot. Before Serbia could reply the general mobilization of the European armies began.

CRUDE OIL PRICE TAKES BIG JUMP

The price of crude oil in all fields was advanced today 25 cents a barrel at the well by the Standard Oil Company. The price of the lowest grade of crude oil, a low gravity oil used chiefly for fuel, has stood at 98 cents since June 28, 1917, prior to which date there had been a series of sharp advances extending over a year. The new price is $1.23. The old price on the highest grade of crude, above 37 degrees gravity, was $1.32, and is now $1.57.

Based on the daily production of crude oil in California fields in March, which was 267,000 barrels, the new price will give the producers of crude oil an increased revenue of $2,069,200 a month at the well, or virtually $25,000,000 a year.

The increase is taken to mean that the campaign vigorously waged for increased oil production to meet heavy consumption has proved unsuccessful.

Stabilize Credit of U. S., Is McAdoo's Plea

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 1.—William G. MacAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, speaking at Liberty Loan meeting last night, appealed to the people to take an intelligent stand in favor of keeping the rate of interest on government bonds stabilized at 4¼ per cent. Mr. McAdoo declared that "unless we are willing to make a fight to preserve the government's credit on that basis, then it is going to be the most unfortunate thing that can happen to the American people."

He urged those who have bought Liberty Bonds to keep them.

Children of Oakland, There Are Blue Birds Galore For You All

Scene from film version of "The Blue Bird," which will be shown to TRIBUNE kiddies Saturday.

Come, youngsters, gather round

It is the Blue Bird speaking—the Blue Bird which has its home with The Oakland TRIBUNE and whose other name is Happiness. It is whispering only to the little lads and lasses of Alameda county who have not put on more than twelve years and it is telling them how they may find the way to have a Blue Bird of their very own within their homes because happiness is easier for them to find and keep than for their bigger brothers and sisters and mothers and fathers.

Here is the secret. If the boys and girls listen well and attend, there will be hundreds of Blue Birds soaring through the sky and nesting in the trees, although many of them may not be seen, and this, indeed, will become the Happy Land. The Blue Bird which has abided so long with The Oakland TRIBUNE is inviting every child under twelve years to be its guest on Saturday morning at a matinee party at the Kinema theater.

BLUE BIRD STORY.

It will be the Blue Bird story which will be told. If one knows the marvelous tale of Tyltyl and his little sister Mytyl, one will be sure to be there to see them wander with the Fairy Berylune and her Magic Diamond through the Palace of Night and the Palace of Luxury and the Cathedral of Happiness and the Azure Palace and meet all the strange folk—Bread, Water, Sugar, Milk, Fire, Pure Air, Blue Sky, Loving One's Parents that none of us think about as people. Remember the dog and the cat who went along on the pilgrimage and all the funny things they did? But, of course, if one does not know the story of the little boy and girl, just like these little boys and girls who will be Saturday's guests, one could not know that the fairy tale after all is a true story. Have you forgotten that when the boy and girl came back home there waiting them all the time was the Blue Bird and what they did with it and how happy they were?

It does not matter whether the lads and lassies know about the Blue Bird or not, after Saturday they are going to know lots more about it. For not one of them is going to be slighted. [illegible] upon in tonight's TRIBUNE and there will be another tomorrow night and again on Friday night. But it is just in The TRIBUNE that the magic ticket will be found which when it is presented on Saturday morning at the Kinema theater will let every boy and girl under 12 years old enter free to see the wonderful show which The Oakland TRIBUNE'S Blue Bird has planned for the children of Alameda county.

EVERYONE IS GOING.

Of course, every one is going to be there. They are going to laugh and make merry and be glad. It's going to be the biggest party ever and just a children's party, too, with no grown-ups to take all the room and crowd the little ones out and get in their way and tell them not to make a noise or shout so loud.

And if any one thinks the Kinema theater is not going to be crowded they would better not come late if they expect to get in. Even the two shows will hardly be enough for the hundreds of little guests whom the Blue Bird will entertain. The first party will be at 9 o'clock, and when the big Broadway show house is emptied of its eager throng at half past ten will come the second party. And who knows which will be the biggest?

So, youngsters, it's your day. Come on and be happy. The Blue Bird will meet you on Saturday and show you that beautiful land where fairies are. But don't forget to bring the talisman, clip the coupon from The Oakland TRIBUNE tonight.

Sullivan Identified by Clerk of Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—In the morning line-up at the detective bureau, Tom Sullivan, alias John Soloman, alias Sam Von Vagenburg, was picked from the line by Thomas O'Brien, night clerk at the Hotel Norden, as the man who had been in the room of Timothy Grace and Albert Durtell shortly before they were found murdered early Thanksgiving morning.

Sullivan was also partially identified by Stanley Dixon, 17, who was the victim of a mysterious attack in Golden Gate Park October 30, from which he later recovered. When arrested yesterday Sullivan was accompanied by Albert Dolge, 16, ranch hand on a dairy farm near Soledad.

Hollander Held as Bad Check Passer

G. F. Kreins, a young Hollander, who was arrested in San Francisco this morning, was returned here by Inspector Frank Rossick on a warrant charging him with passing fictitious checks. The complaint was sworn to by C. A. Pearson, of 330 Van Buren street, who alleges Kreins obtained $15 from him on a bad check. Kreins was also accused of passing bad checks on Manager James Woodbury of the Hotel Minster in San Francisco. Woodbury offered to let the matter drop if Kreins would enlist. Kreins refused.

Soldier-Son of Judge Samuels Is in France

Police Judge George Samuels today received a telegram announcing the safe arrival of his son, Sorte Samuels, in France. Samuels is a sergeant and enlisted in New York last year.

Before sailing he was on the troop train which was wrecked between Camp Upton and Hoboken.

Bishop Dougherty Made Archbishop

ROME, May 1.—Monsignor Dougherty, bishop of Buffalo, has been appointed archbishop of Philadelphia, it was announced at the Vatican today

Dynamite Found Under Fort Bliss Radio Plant

EL PASO, Texas, May 1.—Four sticks of dynamite, thirty feet of soiled copper wire and detonating caps were discovered late yesterday buried under the base of the steel wireless tower at Fort Bliss. The explosive was found by an officer who was training his men in entrenchment work near the tower.

CAFE MAN DISAPPEARS.

Since Frederick Klenk, proprietor of a small restaurant at 1194 Seventh street, stepped out, presumably for a few minutes at 6 o'clock yesterday morning he has not been heard of by his wife, who today asked the police to investigate.

It is a merry row the artists are having. Lionel Josephare says the San Francisco Art Association "trun out his war picture because they preferred Hungarian goulash in a gilt frame to canvass-backed local talent on the Fine Art's wall. Josephare has expressed himself in terms of acid and cayenne for a world of listening suckers, and Bohemia has chortled in its sleeve.

All of which brings back memories of another occasion when a certain very famous collector of "old masters," who lives in San Francisco, called Josephare in to expert some of his "works," not so many years ago.

"I wish to bequeath these pictures to some institution at my death, and I would like a suggestion as to where to send them," announced the v. f. c.

Josephare looked them over with a critical eye

"You'd better leave them to the blind home," he said.

HE WOULDN'T WAKE BLOOMIN' HORSES.

Sergeant Pepper, local recruiting officer, is Irish. This is a diplomatic way of saying he always has an answer. One of his under officers told this one on him.

When Pepper was breaking in as a private he was given a sentry detail near the cavalry squadron stables. His superior officer came around about midnight and failed to find him. He "hallo-ed" and Pepper suddenly appeared before him, looking very sleepy and without his shoes.

"Where were you just now?" asked the officer.

"Marching 'round," retorted Pepper, virtuously, suppressing a yawn.

"What's the idea of the boots off?"

"I didn't want to wake the bloomin' horses."

NO JOB BIG ENOUGH FOR HIM "OVER THERE."

Somebody is going to get hurt. Without prognosticating around a whole lot we have a feeling that it is going to be a certain draft board in the city hall. For some careless person unleashed "Racehorse Red" Johnson and turned him loose on the United States army and there is wild excitement among the brigadier generals and such.

Johnson went to Camp Lewis from Oakland as a simple private. In two weeks he was a corporal, which is going some for even Camp Lewis. All that keeps him from being first lieutenant is lack of promotion. Rumor of this has gotten out, and it is causing all kinds of excitement. The major general was so cut up over it the other night that he passed Johnson's barracks without saluting.

Johnson has written back saying that he sings when and where he pleases; that he eats well; that he likes the camp, and is thinking about staying with his position for the present, or at least until the war is over. Oaklanders who knew him as plain Arthur J. Johnson will not recognize him as the stern and efficient drillmaster who whips them into shape. For "Racehorse" is simply covered over from head to foot with marks of distinction. The war department today received the following despatch from Pershing:

"For Heaven's sake keep Racehorse Johnson in California. We can't depose General Foch until after the war and there is no other job open."

ATTORNEY'S FEES? THERE WAS NO SUCH IN CASE.

An irate haberdasher, Judge Harry Pulcifer, a meek man of family buying a suit on the dollar-down-dollar-a-week plan, and a Liberty bond—these are the components of this story.

The wife of the man of family had been ill and there had been hospital bills, doctor bills, drugs to buy. He fell behind in his payments. He had paid $16 and owed $9 when the clothier sued him. He sued him for $9 balance, $10 attorney's fees and $3 costs.

"I see you have a Liberty bond button," said Judge Pulcifer [illegible]

"How could you afford to buy a bond?"

"Well, I was catching up, and I figured I would soon have this balance paid off. I thought it was my duty and it was only $1.25 a week."

"Well, you must pay him $9," ordered Pulcifer.

"How about attorney's fees?" demanded the plaintiff.

The judge said he had seen no attorney, and it was explained that the agreement the man had signed provided that if he fell behind in his payments he could be sued and $10 attorney's fees added.

"It's not justice," the clothier protested.

"Well, when this man is ready to make a sacrifice to buy a Liberty bond when he's had so hard a struggle, it's the kind of justice we pass out in this court, and if you don't like it you can take it to the Supreme Court," announced Pulcifer. "Next case."

Woman Given $10,000 for Loss of Husband

Judge M. T. Dooling of the United States District Court has awarded Mrs. Mary Souza of Oakland damages in the sum of $10,000 from the Globe Indemnity Company and the Western Fuel Company for the death of her husband, who was killed in 1916 while employed by the Western Fuel Company, thereby reversing the Supreme Court of California and the Industrial Accident Commission.

The Industrial Accident Commission in April awarded Mrs. Souza $3900, and immediately the defendant companies appealed, and the Supreme Court annulled the award on the ground that the industrial commission had no jurisdiction. On Mrs. Souza's behalf appeal was taken to the Federal Court where the big award was received.

A Swift Return to Health

The convalescent from a long, wasting illness yearns for the speedy return of his former vigor and capacity to live life to the full. But usually under such conditions, Nature needs scientific assistance in her work of restoring the wasted blood and wasted tissues. Nothing is more effective than

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

"The Red Blood Builder"

Gude's Pepto-Mangan's ability to build the body is certain because its ability to build the blood is certain. It reconstructs the blood from its foundations, the red blood cells. It increases their number and capacity to carry life-giving oxygen to every cell and tissue of the body, charging them with new vim and vigor. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is easy to digest, promptly assimilated, safe and beneficial for the weak and run-down of all ages, and exceedingly pleasant to taste.

Study this picture so you will know how genuine Pepto-Mangan looks.

Friendly Warning: There are many imitations of Pepto-Mangan on the market, but you can be sure of getting the genuine if it bears the name "Gude" and is put up in the bottle and sealed package as pictured here. Ask for it by its full name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan." For sale at all drug stores.

If the whole-hearted, whole-pursed support of the people at home is lacking—what then?

A million men—yes, five million—may spring to arms, but they must have arms to spring to: rifles, clothing, food, blankets, cannon, munitions. SOCIETY

Serving their country in France, or about to depart for foreign lands, are ten young men whose home since early childhood has been the Ladies' Relief Society of this city—an institution regarded as the oldest charity of the east bay section, in which are interested more than a hundred society matrons from the cities east of the bay. Mrs. Frank F. Weston is the recording secretary of the home and Miss Matilda Brown president. Mrs. Weston is in receipt of many interesting letters from the young men who have given their life to the serving of their native land and one of the noble acts of the children recently come to light has been the adoption of their former playmate, Robert Smythe, for twelve years a resident of the home. The children have pledged themselves to see to his comfort and knitting needles are to be kept as busy as can be providing for the welfare of their "adopted soldier boy."

A tale of interest is that of the letter received last Christmas from a former resident of the home, who 47 years ago first entered its doors. Last Christmas came a check for $10. "To be added to the children's Christmas fund," the note read and recalled the many happy days the donor had spent beneath its roof. The committee on the executive board of the ladies' relief keeps constantly in touch with the children through later years, always aware of their successes or misfortunes, whatever the case might be, ever willing to lend a helping hand.

The average age of the children is eight years and the fact that in the past year these little children have fed through their war gardens 150 persons is an example of their desire to help and win their way in the world.

The ten boys who have entered the service are Lester Rafael, Henry Andreani, Wilson Person, Alfred Kopp, Joe Flockhart, Louis Flockhart, Robert Flockhart, Robert Smythe, Edward Johnson and Charles Reali.

Among those who are interested in this worthy charity are Mrs. Willard F. Williamson, Mrs. Frank K. Mott, Mrs. Jessie G. Eccleston. Mrs. William Griffith Henshaw, Mrs. Frank F. Weston, Mrs. Joseph Russell Knowland, Mrs. Walton N. Moore, Mrs. Hayward G. Thomas, Mrs. Daniel Easterbrook, Mrs. Nelson Howard, Mrs. Edward Lacey Brayton, Mrs. Alla Henshaw Chickering, Miss Mona Crellin and scores of others.

The big homes in Southern California, many of them with spacious sunken gardens, are being used as the headquarters for Red Cross benefits. For a Red Cross rally the home of the Lucien N. Brunswigs of West Adams street is to be thrown open in the near future. The tennis courts have been canopied and here are to be placed the bridge tables. Captain C. F. Barlow of Washington is in charge of the rally. More than 5000 guests are expected.

These same homes are later to be offered to the government for hospitals when the call comes for more room.

The nuptial service was read by Rev. C. F. Clarke of the Fruitvale Congregational Church. The bride is a niece of Mrs. Adolph Streckles of San Francisco. Before her marriage Mrs. Langlor was Miss Edith Norman de Brettville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norman de Brettville of Berkeley. The bridegroom left Sunday for American Lake.

A WORD TO GRIP SUFFERERS

The form of influenza commonly known as "the grip" is a disease of short duration usually running its course in from two to ten days. Medical treatment does not help much.

During its short course the grip makes havoc in the system, thinning the blood, weakening the digestion and leaving the nerves unstrung and oversensitive. An attack of the grip is often the unsuspected cause of much suffering and chronic ill health later on. After the grip there is always danger of pneumonia unless the strength of the patient is built up so that the body can defend itself. It is a condition that calls for a tonic.

The best way to correct this after-effect of the grip is to build up the blood and there is no better blood builder than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

As soon as the revitalized blood courses through the system you are aware of its soothing influence. Gradually the color returns to the pale cheeks, appetite and digestion return and you are on the road to health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50 at druggists or by mail from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Scheneotady, N. Y. Write today for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

Lucrezia Bori on BEAUTY

How to Forget Your Hands

by Lucrezia Bori famous Spanish Opera Singer and noted Beauty

Do you wish to keep your hands from betraying the fact that you lack poise and self-possession? Then you must learn to forget that you have hands.

The nervous, fidgety woman who never knows what to do with her hands is at all times conscious of them, and in her efforts to make them less conspicuous she often only accentuates their prominence.

If you're conscious of your hands because of their unattractiveness, the first step is to remedy that condition. When their lack of beauty is due to neglect you should immediately give them the attention necessary to keep them attractive. If, however, old age is the cause of their unsightliness, double your efforts to restore them to their orginial beauty.

But when your hands are beautiful and yet you're uncomfortably conscious of them, it's simply a matter of nervousness, which will only require the exertion of a little will power to totally overcome.

Lack of grace and repose where the hands are concerned is a common fault. Very few women know how to use their hands with that easy, unconscious grace which has ever been considered one of the evidences of refinement.

In these days of omnipresent knitting needles, the hands are more conspicuous than ever before. In addition to keeping them soft and smooth that the yarn may be easily handled it's necessary that the fingers be limber to insure deftness in the use of the needles.

You can make your fingers limber by exercising them. The expert pianist can show you the most wonderful results of diligent exercises performed by the fingers, and by following the exercises by which he trained his fingers you can win grace for yours. Here's how to do it:

Hold the hands slightly above a table, and lower each finger until it touches the table, then raise it as high as possible, keeping the palm of the hand perfectly still. At first it won't be easy to move the fingers very far, but after a while you'll be surprised to see what progress you've made.

Learn the Delsartean movements. Relax your hands as loosely as possible and hold them in front of you. Then begin to shake them as rapidly as if you were trying to shake your fingers off. Do this for 10 or 12 minutes every day, and you'll soon find that your fingers have become flexible.

If you've acquired the nervous habit of toying with your rings, necklaces or bracelets, exert your will power to break yourself of this habit. If necessary, stop wearing your jewelry for a while so you will have a reminder not to do it unconsciously.

Some persons are so conscious of their hands when dressed in evening attire that it's almost painful to watch them nervously picking at their frocks, fussing with their coiffures or twisting their handkerchiefs. I would suggest that such women carry something that their hands may be occupied, a fan or a flower, for instance, until they've conquered their "nerves" and have gained poise.

Red hands and knuckles are often due to wearing clothing that is too tight. Even rings that fit snugly will cause an unattractive redness of the hands. Therefore, it's wise to avoid wearing anything that will hamper the freedom of circulation.

It's natural for most hands to become red and the veins swollen when the hands are hanging down. Therefore, if you're yearning to have your hands appear white, hold them up in a graceful manner whenever it's possible to do so.

The woman who isn't blessed with ease and grace of manner in posing her hands should carefully watch and then imitate the actions of those who possess this great charm.

Every pair of hands aren't beautifully shaped. Some are too bony for beauty or the skin looks yellow and shrivelled, or the wrist bone protrudes too far. When such is the case it's well to profit by this hint:

Wear long sleeves with pretty lace, organdie or chiffon frills at the wrists. They will greatly improve the appearance of the hands. The present fashion for long, draped sleeves in evening gowns is a boon to the woman whose arms and hands are less attractive than her more fortunate sister.

Every woman would like to have pretty hands, and know how to use them with the unconscious grace that's a joy to the eyes. There's no need for any self-consciousness where the hands are concerned if a little thought and time is devoted to their care.

A concert of original compositions will be given Saturday evening at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium, 1515 Webster street, by the faculty and pupils in the Jenkins school of music. The program is of unusual interest as it is the first experiment here in giving a concert made up, with the exception of one number, of the compositions of pupils and teachers in the school.

"Since the aim of education is to develop the power of independent thought and action, why not foster self-expression in music?" is the demand with which the program is prefaced. The single exception to the rule for compositions by the local musicians is "Spirit of the Evil Wind," by H. J. Stewart, a California composer. The program follows:

Chorus, Saturday class, accompanist, Miss Louise Greene, "Spirit of the Evil Wind" (Stewart), transcribed for woodwind and strings by Arthur Black; compositions by members of the faculty; violin solos by Samuel Savannah; Romance and Mazurka Caprice, Mrs. Samuel Savannah, accompanied by Mrs. Maurice L. Kramer at the piano; songs, "The Brook" and "In Autumn," by Savannah, and "Bye, Low Land" and "A Valentine," by Cora W. Stoppani. The program to be presented by Lawrence Strauss includes: "Infidelite," Reynaldo Hahn; "Nell," Gabriel Faure; "L'Adieu du Matin," E. A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

Clubs

By EDNA B. KINARD.

The women of the State of California will go before the next session of the legislature fully agreed to put up a fight for a new community property bill or at least amendments to the present community property law which will meet with their approval. When early this month there gathered in San Francisco representatives of the 70,000 organized women of the Legislative Council of California, petitions were heard from the California Civic League, the California Congress of Mothers' and Parent Teacher Associations, the California Federation of Women's Clubs, the Woman's Christian Association (North), Oakland Center and San Francisco Center of the California Civic League, asking that the womanhood of the State unite in a campaign to modify the present community property laws.

As offered to the council by the California Congress of Mothers, the proposed amendment which it was desired to get before the State body of lawmakers provided that a wife have secured to her the right of testamentary disposition in her share of the community property. As presented by San Francisco Center the measure not only provided for the testamentary disposition, but also "equal rights in life," giving to the wife a share in the property while she lived. The four bodies suggesting to the Legislative Council outlines for the important measure on which it will stand before the State held a conference and re-wrote the bill, agreeing not only to include in its provisions equal rights for the husband and wife during life, but giving to the wife the same rights as the husband in the matter of testamentary disposition at death. There is little doubt but that when all the women's clubs within the State shall have sent in their preferential vote to the Legislative Council, thus suggestion regarding amendments in the community property laws of California will be adopted and the womanhood of the State bound together in an active campaign to write it into legal codes.

California women realize they have a strenuous battle before them if they are to become successful. They well know that opposition is to come to their measure from many influential quarters and from several powerfully organized bodies. They have been told that they are endeavoring to upset precedent and industry and society. They have had pointed out to them that it is not for a wife to meddle with wills and other things when the laws of California have already been so kindly to them. But this new enfranchised body of women have a sturdy belief in their independence and equality and they have found among themselves no reason why community property in life or in death is not as much their own as it is their husband's to dispose of or to govern.

It will be a goodly fight which will be waged in Sacramento next year and one well worth the watching, on the one side the women of California determined no matter how they may use the privilege to be recognized as the equal of their men folk, and on the other hand a frightened band of men who see disaster in the sudden changing of community property laws. But it is a common axiom that "the lady always wins," and nothing so terrible has yet transpired with her victory. It looks at the present time as though legislators for their office's sake had better heed the feminine demands. Women are not afraid to enter the political ring or use their ballot in winning a good point.

The United States constitution class which has been carried on by Mrs. A. F. Coffin as a vital part of the work of Oakland Center, California Civic League, has been discontinued. There seemed to be little which the women's organizations had to offer of greater importance than this renewing of intimate acquaintanceship with the great charter of the nation, nor much that had a greater patriotic significance. But one by one the members of the study class have fallen away, drawn by the more strenuous demands of other duties. Not only was the master document studied for its text but it was given its correct historical and political background. It is quite possible that the class will be reorganized next year, the continuation depending entirely upon the demand which comes from the women who are desirous of informing themselves.

At the national convention held in Washington, the patriotic women remembering the somberness of their Canadian sisters when word came again and again of some loved one who had fallen on the field, seriously considered the whole question of mourning garb and went on record against it. The Daughters of the American Revolution have endorsed the wearing of a sleeve band of black with a gray star for each man lost in the service.

Revelations of a Wife

by Adele Garrison

JACK'S GOOD-BY.

"Margaret, stop this immediately. Stop it, I say."

Jack took me by the shoulders and shook me, none too gently, either. I did not blame him, for his roughness was just what I needed to bring me out of my fit of hysteria.

The joy of finding my wedding and engegement rings after the shock of losing them, the realization that I need not tell Dicky about their loss, had made me hysterical for the first time in my life.

My sobs and peals of laughter gradually subsided. I saw Jack take up the speaking tube.

"Drive on about a mile past that address I gave you, then turn around and come back," he said to the driver.

He did not speak again to me until I was perfectly quiet. Then he said in a perfectly commonplace tone:

"Are you sure there will be nobody at your apartment to notice your appearance?"

"No, nobody," I answered. "Dicky has gon to Mrs. Underwood's for dinner, and I gave the maid the day off because we were going to dine out. Why?"

"Because then it will not be necessary for me to go in with you. Will you do exactly as I tell you?"

Dimly I realized that in very truth, as he himself would express it, my "big brother, Jack, was strictly on the job" of taking care of me.

JACK'S UNSELFISH PLANS.

"Of course, Jack," I said docilely.

"When do they expect you at Mrs. Underwood's?"

"They don't really expect me at all. I told them if I finished dinner with you in time I would telephone them. But, Jack, I can't see them. I can't see anybody."

"Yes, you can." Jack's tone was firm. "You must. When we reach your home bathe your face and lie down for a few moments. When you have calmed down a little telephone these people and go directly to them. They won't expect you to eat much dinner, knowing you have just dined, but you will be there with your husband and his friends, where a bride should be."

He smiled sadly as he finished. I felt a lump come into my throat. How good he was, this brother-cousin of mine, putting aside his own suffering to plan for me!

"But, Jack," I protested, "when Mr. Underwood saw me in the taxi he assumed that I was going to his home, and asked me to give him a lift. In order to get rid of him. I told him that I had a dinner engagement with you, letting him think that the dinner was yet to come."

"That makes no difference," Jack spoke sharply. "Of course he knew when he heard me speak of not being able to find the rings that you had told him a falsehood about the dinner. That is all the more reason why you should hurry over there. I don't believe he will say anything, however. If I read him correctly, he'd rather hold that knowledge over your head as a sort of secret understanding with him—the beast!"

"That's just what he is," I interjected heartily.

"I know." Jack clenched his fists. "And I haven't even the privilege of knocking him down without making things worse for you."

Again for a second's disloyal flash the contrast between this brother-cousin of mine and my husband came to me. Jack would have kept me from ever meeting such men as Harry Underwood. Dicky had introduced him to me as one of his intimates. He had ignored, if he had seen, the pointed attention with which Harry Underwood made me uncomfortable upon every occasion of our meeting.

At the same time Dicky had been wildly jealous of this dinner with Jack, whom I had not seen for a year, and who was the best friend my mother and I had ever had.

And yet I realized that I loved my husband wildly, with all the strength I had, and that Jack, with all his tender consideration for me, all his past kindnesses, would go out of my life now forever.

TEARS THAT BLIND.

The taxi had turned at the mile spoken of by Jack, and was now slackening speed. I saw that we were almost in front of the apartment where my home was.

"One thing more," Jack's firm voice said. "The first opportunity that you have when you can do it tactfully, tell your husband what happened today. Then you can snap your fingers at Mr. Underwood's sneers."

He grasped my hands again and held them tightly.

"Good-by now, little girl," he said, oh, so sadly. "No, I am not going to kiss you good-by. I want you to be able to tell your husband that I didn't. I am going straight to the hotel. If for any reason you should need me later in the day you can 'phone me there. But I can't imagine any possibility of your needing me."

He sprang out of the taxi, helped me to alight, walked with me to the door of the apartment building, lifted his hat and left me.

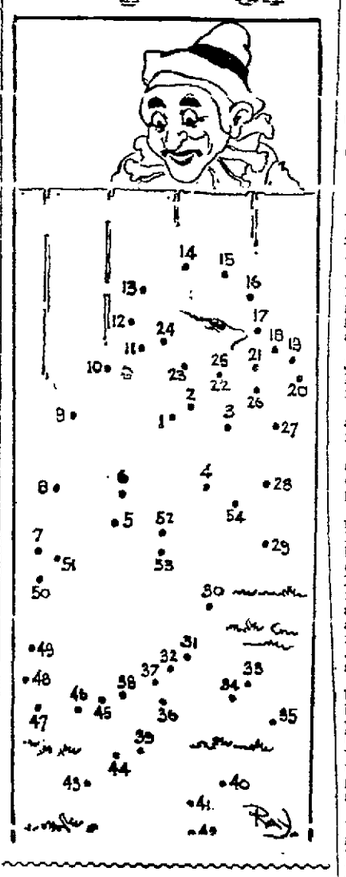

I could hardly see my way for the tears in my eyes as I stumbled down the hall to the door of my own apartment.

I fumbled in my mesh bag for the key, and then remembered that I had left it lying upon my dressing table.

The incident was the proverbial last straw. As I drearily turned to hunt up the janitor to see if he could get entrance for me I felt as if I didn't care whether anything else happened to me or not.

Carl's BEDTIME STORY

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE MOVING VAN.

Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By Howard R. Garis.)

Such busy times as there were in Woodland where the animal folk lived! Even before the sun had gotten up Uncle Wiggily Longears and Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper, were down stairs in the hollow stump bandbox, getting ready. For Uncle Wiggily had set his watch an hour fast, to get ahead of the sun, you see, and have a little extra time for himself.

"Well, is everything all ready, Nurse Jane?" asked the bunny uncle, as he hopped up and down on the front porch, for he had come back from the seashore.

"Everything is packed and ready," she answered. "You may go after the moving van as soon as you like."

"I will," said Uncle Wiggily, and, with a twinkle of his pink nose, like the shiny coil in a soda water bottle, away hopped the bunny rabbit gentleman.

For it was the first of May, and moving day in Woodland. Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane were moving to a larger hollow stump bungalow, the Wibblewobble ducks were going to a new home, and Mr. and Mrs. Bow Wow, the puppy dog folk, were to have a new kennel. Dickie and Nellie Chip-Chip, the sparrow boy and girl, were going to move into a new nest, and so was Robin Red Breast and Jennie Wren. Every one was moving, it seemed.

Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane, coming back from the seashore, where the bunny's epizootic got much better, had packed all their things, and now the bunny was going to get the moving van, which is a big wagon in which to put the chairs, tables, stoves, piano, phonograph and other things from the hollow stump bungalow.

Menchie Trot, the pony, was to pull the loaded moving van from Uncle Wiggily's old hollow stump bungalow to the new one, and, as soon as it was backed up in front of the place from where Mr. Longears was moving, the rabbit gentleman and Nurse Jane, with the help of some of their neighbors, began packing in the things.

Now, just about this time, along came a bad fuzzy old fox. He hid out behind the bushes, and he looked at Uncle Wiggily's moving van, and he said to himself said that fox:

Ah, ha! This is my chance! I'll sneak in the old bungalow, and hide inside a chest or a bureau, Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane won't see me, and they'll move out the bureau, with me in it, and take me right into the new bungalow with them. Then, in the night, I'll softly crawl out and carry Uncle Wiggily off to my den. That's what I'll do!"

So the bad fuzzy fox watched his chance, and as there was so much going on, with Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane piling stuff in the moving van, the bad animal managed to sneak into the old bungalow without being seen.

There he opened an empty bureau and got into the drawer, managing to shut it after him, so if you had just glanced at the bureau never would you have thought a fox was in it. But he was all there.

The last of Uncle Wiggily's things had been put in the moving van. All that was left was the bureau, and when Uncle Wiggily and the muskrat lady went to lift that out Uncle Wiggily saw some fuzzy hairs sticking from one of the drawers.

"Why, I guess you must have left a dusting brush in here, Nurse Jane," he said.

The muskrat lady looked, and when she saw the fuzzy hairs she know right away what it was—a fox hiding in the drawer.

"Rush!" she said to Uncle Wiggily, putting her paw over her lips. "Don't say a word. We'll fool him."

Then, very softly they went out, not taking the bureau with the fox in it, as the bad old creature hoped they would. Then Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane quickly moved everything else to the new bungalow. And when it was all in they came back and got the bureau, and the fox was still in it. But, after the bureau was in the moving van, instead of driving to the new bungalow with it, Uncle Wiggily told Munchy Trot to run down to the river. And there they dumped the bureau, fox and all into the water. So the fuzzy creature in the drawer got all wet, and he had hard work scrambling out alive, let me tell you.

But he finally did, and he swam ashore, very much disappointed, indeed, because he hadn't caught Uncle Wiggily. The bureau floated ashore and the bunny caught it and put it in his new bungalow, so everything came out right. But it's a good thing some hairs from the tail of the fox stuck out, or I don't know what might have happened.

And, if the bottle of perfume doesn't hide in the handkerchief box where the talcum powder can't find it to clean its teeth, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the May blossoms.

"WE BATTLE AGAINST ODDS TO VICTORY"

—HAIG.

LONDON, May 1.—Field Marshal Haig, replying to Queen Mary's message of thanks to the British army, today telegraphed as follows:

"The message which your majesty sent to the army and air force in the name of the women of the British empire, will inspire with new strength and fresh determination the brave men from every part of the empire who, on the battle fields of France and Flanders, are fighting so gallantly for all they hold most dear.

"They who with their own eyes daily see the women and children made homeless in the once peaceful and prosperous villages and towns now ruined by flames, are resolved, come what may, that their own loved ones shall not share this suffering.

"No peril is too great, no sacrifice too extreme, to save the country from such a fate.

"Side by side with our gallant allies whose wrong we felt as our own and are determined to set right, we will persevere in this fight against all odds until victory is achieved. We are heartened by the love and confidence of the women of the British empire to which your majesty's message has given such a moving expression."

TO PROSECUTE CIRCULATORS

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—"We have no intent to persecute people for their religious beliefs, but we are going to prosecute members of the International Bible Students' Association who were engaged in the circulation of the seditious publication which contained the article entitled "The Finished Mystery and Why Suppressed,' for pro-German activities and for spreading German propaganda."

This statement was made last night by United States Attorney O'Connor regarding the arrest of Walter Manny and Fred Gallagher in a raid conducted by Federal officers on the headquarters of the association at 1051 South Grand avenue. More arrests, he said, might be expected.

IS VIOLATION.

Membership in the organization, the officers said did not constitute ground for arrest, but circulation of material like the pamphlets which were put into circulation here Sunday, was said to be direct violation of the espionage act.

"Whether the members of the association engaged in the circulation of this seditious literature are simply dupes or willing accomplices of vicious pro-German interests, they are equally guilty of disloyalty," declared Assistant United States Attorney Palmer.

The raid on the association's offices resulted, in addition to the arrest of the two men, in the seizure of papers, maps letters and much literature by Fred Boden, agent for the Department of Justice. The two men are members of the association and are said to have been identified directly with the distribution of the seditious pamphlet.

DETAIN WOMEN.

When the officers entered the association rooms yesterday more than a dozen men and women were found in the various offices. These were detained for a time and closely questioned. Large quantities of the pamphlets were seized which contained, beside the objectionable article, a petition to President Wilson to permit the sale of the "Finished Mystery," the book by Pastor Russell which was recently suppressed.

W. D. Housely who informed Boden that he was in charge of the headquarters, told the officers that he could not supply the names of the circulators of the pamphlet. The list he said, had been destroyed.

The authorities stated last night every effort would be made to learn the contents of this supposedly destroyed roster, and to bring under arrest those named therein.

WEDNESDDAY, MAY 1, 1918.

AFTER SIX WEEKS OF BATTLE.

In the fighting between Lens and Ypres during the last three days the decision has been with the armies of the Entente Allies. Hindenberg has struck what appears to have been the heaviest blows at his command—with terrific artillery preparation and support and massed divisions of infantry.

But the French and English have held fast. They have even made advances in counter attacks—not over much terrain, but calculated to improve their lines. And all the while they have been taking heavy toll of the enemy. In modern warfare when a defensive force stands still and devotes all its efforts to putting the attacking enemy out of action the losses of the attackers are inevitably large.

All reports from the front agree that the Hun has suffered terribly. And he has not broken the Allied line at any point. That line is elastic but strong; when it yields at any point it creates a dangerous pocket in which the kaiser may send his troops to the death at will.

Up to the present writing the fighting has developed exactly as the Allies expected. The strategy of the defensive, worked out in advance, according to American army officers returned from the front, has been executed without any miscalculation except the somewhat too precipitate retirement of the British general commanding in front of Cambrai during the first week of the German offensive. The losses inflicted on the enemy have been as heavy as predicted and the Allied reserves have been used sparingly, so that a strong reserve force remains for future use.

So far the Allies have been prepared for every eventuality. The crisis is not past, but there is no cause for deep despondency. Our position ought gradually to improve. Again it may be said that the Allies are not yet out of the woods, but they are getting in thinner timber.

$2.50 WHEAT!

A plea was uttered a few days ago in familiar quarters that the lower house of Congress reverse its refusal to accept the Senate amendment to the agricultural bill providing for a maximum price of $2.50 per bushel for 1918 wheat. This despite the fact that representatives of the farmers have declared that the price of $2.20 fixed by presidential decree allows a fair profit and encourages production.

It will be recalled that THE TRIBUNE two weeks ago called attention to the fact that the effort of the Senate to establish a higher price was made without any investigation of the wheat situation or any evidence that $2.50 or any other price would be fair and equitable; that the arbitrary boosting of wheat 30 cents a bushel would be the basis for proportionate increases in the price of all foodstuffs and material, imposing an additional living cost upon the United States of between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 annually; that such price increases would mean decreases in the quantity of food and material our allies are able to buy—a development which would be observed with satisfaction by the enemy, and that the fixing of the price of wheat by the Senate would be the inauguration of the undesirable policy of price-fixing by legislation.

All these considerations hold good today. No evidence has been presented to show that $2.20 is not a fair price for wheat, or that the profiteers in other industries are not trying to use the farmer as a blind behind which to lay the foundation for illegitimate increases in other necessities of food. Congress should abstain from price-fixing and leave this matter exclusively to the President and his adviser, the federal food administrator.

Mr. Herman Whitaker's article on another page of this issue is a permanent contribution to the literature of the war. It will last, for it is the authentic, finely conceived and splendidly written account of the operations of the American anti-submarine fleet of warships in European waters. THE TRIBUNE'S war correspondent was taken on a cruise with the destroyer fleet which Vice Admiral Sims commands, and has given a vivid account of the life and the deeds of American sailors whose special business is to overcome the undersea assassins sent out by the kaiser. Mr. Whitaker's account comprises not only useful and interesting information for the people at home, but it is a part of the record of the United States at war which otherwise would have remained unwritten.

THE OVERMAN BILL.

After the most stubborn contest that has characterized the adoption of any measure since war was declared, the United States Senate Monday passed the administration project, now known as the Overman bill, delegating to the President general powers to reorganize and co-ordinate government departments and agencies during the war. Opposition to the bill was centered on certain provisions and expressed in proposed amendments denying some of the power the President had asked. But when these were rejected the vote on final passage was 63 to 13. As passed the bill contains this declaration of its purposes:

For the better utilization of resources and industries, and for the more effective exercise and more efficient administration by the President of his powers as Commander in Chief of the land and naval forces, the President is hereby authorized to make such redistribution of functions among executive agencies as he may deem necessary, including any functions, duties and powers hitherto by law conferred upon any executive department, commission, bureau, agency, office or officer, in such manner as in his judgment shall seem best fitted to carry out the purposes of this act, and to this end is authorized to make such regulations and to issue such orders as he may deem necessary.

That in carrying out the purposes of this act the President is authorized to utilize, co-ordinate or consolidate any executive or administrative commissions, bureaus, agencies, offices or officers now existing by law, to transfer any duties or powers from one existing department, commission, bureau, agency, office or officer to another, to transfer the personnel thereof or any part of it either by detail or assignment, together with the whole or any part of the records and public property belonging thereto.

The Senate has acted wisely in passing this bill. The sole test properly applied was whether the President needed the measure to enable him more efficiently and successfully to conduct the war, and the record clearly indicates that such large authority as the bill will confer is in the main desirable. The Senate, through the Chamberlain bill, made such a proposal on its own account. Opposition to certain provisions was entirely justified, however. Nearly half the senators were of the opinion that only departments and agencies directly concerned in the prosecution of the war and only the war functions of other departments should be included in the plan of reorganization.

It remains for the government to demonstrate that this view was justifiably rejected. The government printing office, the Federal Reserve Board and the Interstate Commerce Commission seem already to be adequately equipped with legislative power to perform all proper functions, and no complaint of inefficiency has been made against them.

However, it must be recognized that there is a difference between peace conditions and war conditions and in war every department, every bureau and every individual is capable of some contribution to war work. If the President believes unlimited authority to reorganize and co-ordinate government agencies is needful he should have that authority.

As commander-in-chief of the land and naval forces the President must have powers of discretion. And these powers must be in such form as to admit of instant application. Congress is by its very nature too slow in action to wage war; this work is properly delegated to the Chief Executive by the Constitution. No one should seek to limit the extent to which the war powers of the President should be used until the purposes of the war have been achieved.

Some of the opponents of the Overman bill, numbering both Republicans and Democrats, have erred in asserting that this measure confers undesirable powers upon the President. The President cannot have too much power to make quick changes and reorganizations in these times as they are needed. He must direct the nation's war activities, and if he should use any of his powers unwisely that is among the unavoidable risks of this great crisis. One thing the Overman bill does not do, and that is to leave any excuses for the President and his advisers to hide behind if they fail to conduct the war efficiently. It gives all the leeway desired, and it should be said now that the President asked for this unlimited authority in an evident spirit of absolute willingness to assume all the responsibility for the results.

Neither is the claim that Congress is surrendering any of its own inherent power well founded. Congress still retains the power to refuse the appropriation of money necessary to any plan proposed by the government; the power to pass by a two-thirds majority any measure over the President's veto; to summon officials of the executive departments before it to give testimony concerning their acts, and it can institute impeachment proceedings against the President and any executive appointee. Congress can exercise more influence than at any time in the past through scrutiny of the appropriation bills and investigation of the various phases of war work through proper committees.

Congress may console itself now with the knowledge that Senator Chamberlain and the military affairs committee of the Senate did the country a higher service in exposing the failures of the administration and forcing it to an accounting before the people than may reasonably be expected from any bill yet presented for its consideration. The fundamental powers of Congress cannot be surrendered nor the duty to exercise them constructively honestly evaded.

The British government is among the first to consider a law providing for the denaturalization of alien-born citizens. Such a law would be a useful instrument in every country for dealing with naturalized citizens guilty of violating their oath of allegiance. The idea is certain to receive serious consideration in all the Allied countries.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Switzerland cannot be able to take much comfort out of the predicament of Holland. That country is in the same general boat, with the difference that it is mountainous and rather harder to ravage. But just as soon as Germany feels herself able, she may be expected to take both.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

George T. Edwards, living two and one-half miles north of Seeley, has successfully demonstrated that it is possible to make a living from a small ranch in Imperial Valley. He is making a living from eight acres of land on which he feeds 30 goats and keeps 100 stands of bees. The goats are thoroughbred Nubians and are bred and sold for milk purposes.—Holtville Tribune.

A jury of women were trying a case in Judge J. Edward Keating's court recently, when a short recess was ordered. When men jurors are given a recess they generally go out in the hall and smoke. Not so with the women. Five of the twelve in this particular case walked over to a little mirror on the courtroom wall and powdered their noses.—San Diego Union.

It has almost passed out of recollection that Kern county grand juries used to adjourn after submitting a report extolling the local king, his minions and his works. Nowadays the grand juries are very scrutinizing and they waste no time or ink in praising the monuments of material greatness. Instead they get at the bottom of things, and endeavor to present the situation as it appeals to their minds. "Long live the king" is a Kern county slogan is forever dead.—Bakersfield Echo.

A RUDELY AWAKENED PEACE SIESTA

MUTINOUS TURKISH SOLDIERS.

Is Turkey collapsing, too? The fact that General von Falkenhayn has returned to Constantinople after more than half of the Turkish army he was trying to reorganize for resistance to the British in Palestine had deserted him must be regarded as ominous. We have had little news from Turkey of late. It may be that the morale of the Turkish armies as a whole is better than this incident would indicate. Yet it would not be surprising if discontent with an alliance which is proving ruinous for the country had already disillusioned the Young Turk party. Under Enver Bey these men endeavored by reforms to save Turkey from dismemberment, as well as to rally Islam generally against Christian aggression. But they were soon forced to maintain their power by the army, just as Abdul Hamid had done. To make this an effective body they called in German officers. That was the beginning of the dominating influence of Germany in Turkey—an influence which was distinctly strengthened by the friendly attitude of Germany in the war with Italy. It is not probable that any attempt to shake off the German yoke will come from Constantinople at present. But when Turkish soldiers are no longer amenable to discipline something is wrong.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

HIS HOME.

His home lay in a winding lane,
Where happy lovers meet;
And where at dawn or eve of day,
Soft winds play thro' the wheat.

His life was one of wholesome toil,
He earned unspoken praise.
From all who prize at honest worth
The tiller's fruitful days.

His soul knew well his duty clear,
And held no thought of Fame;
With neighbor lads he marched away,
When country's "man call" came.

In sunny France are winding lanes,
Where winds play thro' the wheat,
He sleeps sound in the sacred field,
Where lovers never meet.

Grieve not, he died a [illegible]
In death he found the way
To live forever, glory son,

WHERE PERFECTION REIGNS.

Having delayed the passage of the Liberty loan bill until a few days before the launching of the Liberty loan campaign, the House now discovers that in its haste it perpetrated a serious blunder in certain of the provisions. It will now be the duty of the Senate to make the necessary correction, and perhaps in the final rush it may contribute further errors of its own. Yet Congress is the one body that is rated by its members as all-wise and infallible and the sole adviser capable of keeping the government in emergency in perfect working order.—New York World.

2 MEXICANS ARE HELD FOR FIRING SHOTS

Following an attempt at Niles picnic grounds station to shoot A. T. Fitch, conductor of a Southern Pacific train, during which passengers had a narrow escape from the fusillade of bullets from two automatics, Saland Nelgosa and Ramon Rosa, Mexicans, were held to answer to the Superior Court today on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder by Justice of the Peace P. C. Quinn of Pleasanton.

The two attempted to beat their way on the train, but were put off at Niles by Conductor Fitch. Whipping revolvers from their pockets, the Mexicans opened fire on the conductor, the rapid fire of missiles sounding like firecrackers, according to a section gang foreman. Fitch threw himself flat on the platform of the car and so escaped the bullets. Passengers who had come onto the platform to find out the cause of the disturbance dodged back quickly, as bullets zipped past them into the woodwork of the car.

After emptying their revolvers the Mexicans fled into Niles canyon, but were captured by Constable Larkin Locke of Pleasanton.

Mexicans who have come across the border into the United States lately are giving considerable trouble in Alameda county, according to Deputy District Attorney Frank M. Shay. Two Mexicans were convicted of attempted robbery and one of assault with a deadly weapon at Niles last week.

Makes Plea For Liberty Bonds
Judge Gibson Urges Purchase

(By JUDGE E. M. GIBSON)

This is the best government ever devised by the wisdom of men. It is founded upon the divine right of the people to govern themselves. Our Declaration of Independence and Federal Constitution guarantee equal rights to all—justice to all—equal opportunity to all. We are engaged in a war that was forced upon us. We fight for justice, liberty, the rights of humanity and civilization and we will conquer. The struggle may be long and hard, but we will win. In order to do this we must all help. A hundred million loyal, patriotic people firmly united in a holy cause with God's favor will not fail.

To buy liberty bonds helps: to buy a liberty bond serves a double purpose—it helps the government and helps the buyer. It will cause you to be more economical in saving money for that purpose and this will be a positive benefit.

If you have already bought a bond, strain a point and buy another. Do it quickly. If you cannot buy another as large as the one you have already bought, buy one half as large. You can not lose by so doing. You will gain by it, and it will be an honor to you and a benefit to our loved city also.

We have many loyal citizens of German birth who are true Americans and will stand by our country because its is their country and they will do their part fully. We are a peace loving people, but we are not cowards. We will fight when our cause is just.

Our brave sons are in the field—many of them at the front on the firing line. We must help them by every means within our power. To buy a bond helps.

If you have one buy another.
Buy it now!
Do it quickly!
Help our boys at the front!
They must be cared for.
You do not lose anything; you gain by it.

Let's all help, and the great armies now fighting for the cause of humanity and civilization will win and we will all rejoice in the glorious triumph.

RAILROADS TO BE THEME.

"Railroad Receivership and Reorganization" will be the subject of the public utility lecture, under the University of California Extension Division Administration, in San Francisco tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Railroad Commission rooms, 833 Market street. W. C. Fankbauser, bond expert of the State Railroad Commission, will deliver the lecture, to which the public is invited.

PLOT WARNING IS POSTED AT MOORE YARDS

Rumors of a bomb plot to destroy shipyards and federal shipping contracts throughout the country, which reached the ears of officials of the Emergency Shipping Corporation and the heads of bay shipyards, today resulted in the posting of a notice at the Moore shipbuilding plant warning the men employed in the yard to be on the lookout for evidence of such a plot. The notice was posted after a conference between Captain A. F. Pillsbury, local head of the government corporation, and Joseph Moore, head of the shipbuilding interests.

According to the information, the plot was to be carried out by workmen, who would carry bombs concealed beneath their clothing, timed to go off nine days after being placed. The plot is alleged to have originated in Mazatlan. Moore was of the opinion that publicity given through the posting of the notice would be more efficacious in preventing the plot being carried out than by maintaining secrecy.

"My men are all loyal and will back me up," he declared.

On this showing Captain Pillsbury gave permission to post the notice.

WESTERN FUEL TAKEN OVER BY KING COMPANY

Indications that the control purchased in the Western Fuel Company two years ago by T. L. Pollock, Arizona millionaire, for the reported sum of $3,000,000 was preliminary to a permanent retirement from the field, have developed from the fact that within the past few days steamships in the bay have bunkered at the coal runs of the King Coal Company, recently incorporated for $500,000 and are taking cargoes using Western Fuel Company equipment.

It is understood that Pollock has agreed to turn over all the coal bunkered for the Western Fuel Company in this city and in San Francisco to the King Coal Company, together with barges, tackle and other equipment. The discharging and storing plant at the foot of Market street in this city is valued at $250,000 and will become a holding of the new concern.

The Western Fuel Company will retain control over mines at Nanaimo, B. C., recently developed at an outlay of $1,250,000. The output of these mines is estimated at 75,000 tons a month, more than 1500 men being employed in them. Scarcity of tonnage which made it difficult for the Western Fuel Company to market its products at this port, is said to be behind the retirement.

James P. Smith, head of the San Francisco agency of the United States Fuel Company, heads the new King Coal Company.

MEN OF 21 ARE ASKED TO PICK ARMY BRANCH

Men who have attained their twenty-first birthday and are therefore eligible for the registration, which will be held in all probability on June 5, are urged by Lieutenant-Colonel John Gardner to call at the nearest recruiting station and talk over the branch of service which they may be best fitted to serve or for which they may have a preference. The colonel believes that each may benefit himself in a military way by taking time by the forelock and enlisting himself into the branch of the service desired rather than waiting and being assigned arbitrarily.

The recruiting station for the army is at 909 Broadway; for the marine corps at 827 Broadway; for the navy at Twelfth and Broadway, and for the naval reserve at the Liberty Hut in the City Hall square. The army station handles enlistments for the British and Canadian service.

FAIR MOTORIST CATCHES SPEEDER

As the result of a swift pursuit over Marin county highways by Miss Leslie Page, society favorite of San Francisco and San Rafael, William O'Shaughnessy, lawyer of San Francisco, will face trial for speeding Friday. Incidentally Miss Page's capture of O'Shaughnessy has imbued S. M. Ambrose, Marin county's speed cop, with a new respect for women motorists, and a determination not to again give any person, man or woman, carte blanche to drive as "fast as the car will go."

Miss Page, according to Ambrose, was returning to San Francisco from San Rafael at a late hour, when, it is alleged, O'Shaughnessy passed her at a high speed, nearly crowding her car into the ditch. Miss Page sped to Larkspur and roused Ambrose out of bed and the two started in pursuit of the speeder.

"I can catch them, but we must go some to make it," said the society girl.

"Turn her loose!" said Ambrose. While he held on for life Miss Page "stepped" on the throttle until the speedometer registered seventy miles an hour.

When overtaken by his fair captor O'Shaughnessy said he might not be a speeder, but it took a fast one to catch up with him.

LABOR IS WITH PRES. WILSON SAYS GOMPERS

BOSTON, May 1.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, who arrived in Boston today from Montreal, declared that organized labor throughout the country is standing loyally by President Wilson and upholding his hands in the prosecution of the war.

Here is President Gompers' May day message to the people of the country through the International News Service:

"Labor is in this war to win. We must win. It is giving in every rank and trade its full, whole-souled cooperation to the government. It is behind the boys in the trenches to the last man.

"In Canada conditions are ideal. Labor is doing its bit enthusiastically there as here and it will continue to do so until the fight is won. There are no slackers in organized labor's ranks."

Gompers visited his father, Saul Gompers, at his home in Dorchester after breakfasting. He is scheduled to address a joint session of the legislature at 3 p. m. He will speak in Faneuil hall tonight.

BILL STUMPF JUMPS FROM THE OAKS AS SOON AS HE JOINS

ONE MORE OAK JOINS RANKS OF THOSE WHO JUMP CLUB IN HURRY

Howard Wants to Send Caldera to Vancouver; Buz Arlett and Clyde Wares Protected by Release-Proof Contracts

By CARL E. BRAZIER.

Bill Stumpf is the latest to jump from the Oakland Coast League ball club. Stumpf was turned back to the Oaks by Pittsburg last month and joined the squad Saturday night in Los Angeles. When he failed to put in an appearance Sunday, Del Howard figured that he was busy arranging for his baggage and Howard planned to use him in the lineup yesterday. But when yesterday came Stumpf was among the missing and investigation showed that he had been busy with his baggage—he had packed up and moved out. In the south the boys believe that Stumpf has gone to the shipyards in the northwest along with Eddie Mensor.

Gene Caldera, southpaw pitcher, is home from the south conferring with his folks as to the advisability of letting the Oaks farm him out. If Caldera will consent he will be sent to the Vancouver club for the season and will probably be brought back to the Oaks next year. "Buz" Arlett, the other recruit pitcher, will stick with the Oaks, having a contract which protects him against release for the season. Clyde Wares, infielder, who was picked up from the shipyards and who crowded Harvey Christensen on to the bench, has a similar contract which guarantees he will not be released for the season. Christensen's contract is said to call for $250 a month, which comes close to being a top price on the club salary list this year.

Stumpf's jumping act merely adds one more to the list of players who have quit the Oakland club in the last two years. Last year Jack Roche, Jack Sheehan, Billy Lee and Bill Burns were the boys who decided to leave for other climates. This year Billy Lane decided to stick in the shipyards; Eddie Mensor quit the club for the northwest shipyards; Bill Hollander quit the club for the local shipyards, and now comes Bill Stumpf, who quits the Oaks before he even breaks back into the lineup.

And gossip among the players has it that one other Oak is on the point of quitting the club as soon as the next payday rolls around and that two other Oaks will not need much persuasion to join him.

Seals Find a Team to Take Cellar Berth

Rodgers' Worry Over Pitchers and Eldred's Weak Arm May Be Fatal to Sacramento.

Bill Rodgers and his herd of Sacramento Coyotes have lost their "pep." Five beatings out of six games in Salt Lake might have taken the "pep" out of those up-river boys—then on the other hand it may be that the "pep" just naturally wore itself out. They made a little noise while they were taking an 8-to-2 beating or a starter for the Seal series yesterday, but that noise was more or less forced and one could see that it did not come of itself, but rather as an answer to the queries from the stands: "Where's all that raw-meat 'pep?'"

The raw meat pep has gone—that's about the only answer, and that means that Bill Rodger's bunch might just as well be counted out of the old 1918 pennant chase. Harry Wolter broke into the Sacramento outfield yesterday, but Harry is built along the same lines as Art Griggs and neither will figure to contribute much to any particular pep on the field. Denny Wilie and Brick Eldred are still out in the outfield to make plenty of noise, but their noise-making is falling off; for Wille's hitting is not what it was a few weeks ago, and Eldred is becoming sensitive to the fact that his weakness in making throws from the outfield is being shown up with a little too much frequency.

RODGERS IS WORRYING.

In the infield the old pep is also disappearing as the steady grind of the long pennant chase gets under way. Art Griggs never was a factor in that noise-making. He is just a steady ball player with a bat that is liable to cause trouble at any time. If the club settles down into a rut without any particular enthusiasm, Art will go along at the same steady pace. On second base Bill Rodgers is beginning to show the old effect of too much worry.

Bill's pitchers are not going right and Bill always did worry himself and his pitchers a bit too much when they were not working right. The Coyote pitchers are not going right and that means that Rodgers' pep supply is running low and also that his own playing is affected. On third Babe Pinelli is bothered by boils. In the short patch, Bull Easterly, who is a catcher by trade, is trying to fill in while Elliott is on the sick list. And behind the plate Gus Fisher's disposition is becoming somewhat ruffled by the fact that his pitchers are not going right and that there is nobody to relieve him on the catching job once in a while.

So how do you figure to get any pep out of a combination like that? Yesterday's beating put the Coyotes down in the cellar, and it's too damp down there for pepper to keep its snap.

Jerry Downs' bunch of Seals came to life with a little more pep yesterday than they had shown last week, but it is a bit early to venture any remark as to whether those Seals will keep up that display of real life. The Seals had been criticised so much last week for their listless playing that yesterday's session may merely have been a forced attempt to show the fans that they are human beings. If the Seals can keep up their pep they should keep the Coyotes down in the basement, but the club that comes out of this week's series on the short end should be the one that is doomed to taken hopers.

BRENTON GOING BAD.

Herb Brenton, who looked due for a great season when the Coyotes trimmed the Oaks, looked like a third-rater out on the mound for Bill Rodgers yesterday. He was bumped freely for a total of fourteen hits, but the worst part of his exhibition was his failure to get along with Gus Fisher, his catcher, in the seventh inning in particular. Brenton seemed to be crossing up Fisher on about every third or fourth ball he pitched. Finally things reached the strained stage where Rodgers, Fisher and Brenton held a little conference that seemed to be anything but a social chat. Brenton is a peculiar fellow and if he gets a notion into his head that he is not being treated just right, he might as well be counted out as a valuable man to the Sacramento club.

Brick Eldred had two chances out in right field to cut off runs at the plate. The first time, his throw did not carry half across the infield; the second time he evidently knew his own weakness and did not even attempt a throw. By the middle of the game the Seals had spotted that weakness, and whenever there was any doubt about a runner going to third or stopping at second on a hit to right field, the try was always made for third. Brick looks like a valuable hitter and a good base-runner for the Coyotes, but that old throwing arm must be bolstered up considerably or there will be too big a hole in that outfield defense.

SPIDER BAUM IS RIGHT.

Of course, there is this way of looking at it—Spider Baum was right, and few ball clubs figure to beat the club when he is right. But at that the Coyotes had enough chances to keep the Seals from scoring if the Sacramento hitters had been right, so that the Baum alibi does not entirely explain away the Coyote defeat. The Coyotes left men on bases in all but one inning, and although they went to bat in only eight innings, they had a total of twenty-six men on the bases during the game. The Coyotes went to bat in nine innings and had only fourteen men on the bases altogether.

With two gone in the first frame, the Coyotes looked dangerous for a few minutes when Wille poked a double to short left that got past Hunter and Griggs followed by beating out a single to Corhan in deep short. But Harry Wolter's first time at bat in the League this year did not find him with his batting eye cleaned out and a grounder to Downs ended the inning. After that the Coyotes did not look like contenders against Baum and by the time they had another chance the Seals were safely out in front with a five-run lead.

PICK STARTS THINGS.

Pick's short single to left in the first that he beat out for a safety a stolen base, a hit batter, and Easterly's low throw to first gave the Seals a score in the first inning. In the third they added three more on a walk, a sacrifice, another walk, singles by Hunter and McKee, a wild throw by Gus Fisher, who had a chance to finish up a double play, and a double steal that was credited to McKee and Hummel when Brenton juggled the ball around long enough to prevent any return play to the plate.

In the fourth frame with one gone, O'Doul singled to center and Charley Pick talked Umpire Frary into giving him his base when he was hit by a pitched ball as he was swinging his bat at it. Koerner shot a single to right and Eldred had plenty of time to head off O'Doul at the plate, but the throw could not carry and the run counted to give the Seals a 5 to 0 lead.

RODGERS FAILS IN PINCH.

Just to tease the Coyotes along, singles by Fisher and Brenton and a walk to Eldred filled the bases with two out in the fifth but Bill Rodgers lost his chance to make it a contest when he rolled an easy one to Baum for the third out. In the sixth the Coyotes missed a shutout when Griggs walked and Wolter and Easterly singled. O'Doul let Easterly's drive get away from him and Wolter scored all the way from first with the second run of the inning. But Fisher cut short the inning when he shot a line drive to Downs and Easterly was doubled up off second.

Roy Corhan booted a couple in the last three innings and when Griggs dodged a wild pitch and bumped his bat into the ball for a fluke single to left the Coyotes put still another man on the paths. But in those three frames, none of the six men who reached first on the two errors, one single, and three forceouts could navigate safely to second.

CORHAN STARTS TO HIT.

Corhan made up for his errors by finding his batting eye along toward the end of the game. Roy has been going so fatally at the bat of late that he has been dropped down to eighth place in the batting order. Time and again he has had chances to hit with runners on base and time and again he has failed. Yesterday McKee's single and steal, a wild pitch and a walk gave Roy another chance and he shot a single to right to cause in a run. Another wild pitch and O'Doul's single out into Eldred's direction made it three runs for the inning. Eldred not even making a try to get Corhan who could have easily been headed off by a man with a good arm out in right. In the eighth inning Corhan again hit in the pinch and it was not his fault that the Seals failed to put over a run with three hits and a walk for the inning. A man thrown out at third trying to head a double steal and another man thrown out trying to steal home account for the inning.

Another one of those 3:30 days on the Oakland lot tomorrow. The Seals and Coyotes will play the third game of their series on this side of the bay with the game booked to start at 3:30 o'clock. The league officials have promised to have the umpire do everything he can to break up this run of long-drawn out games on this side of the bay and the boys will stand a better chance of getting home before dinner has been fed to the cat.

The Seals will be without the service of Pitcher Kantlehner for a few days as he is on the sick list.

Three Doubles, a Triple and a Single Chase Ray to Clubhouse; Krause Is Also Hit Hard

(Special to The TRIBUNE)

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—After using three pitchers to stop the onslaught, Del Howard could not make the opening game of the new series look like that of a real ball game and he and his cohorts lost the contest, the score being 8 to 4. Oakland had the Angels 4 to 1 in the fourth frame, but could not hold the big lead. In the last of the fourth inning, Killefer's men started the fireworks and made four runs.

The Angels opened the day by scoring a run in the first. Killefer, first to face Kremer, who started the game, singled. Terry and Fournier were out. Crawford singled to right, scoring Killefer and took second on the throw-in. Ellis was out. This tells the tale of the first run.

Now it was Oakland's turn to score and they did it in the second. Miller was safe on Killefer's error. Gardner singled to left. "Pop" Arlett and Croll were easy outs. Murray then singled to left, scoring Miller and Gardner. Kremer fouled to Boles, two runs.

In the third frame Oakland gathered two more runs. Leifer, first up, hit a home run to the centerfield fence.

Leifer's home run came on a fluke. Cooper, centerfielder for the Angels, misjudged the ball and it went to the fence. Wares singled to left; Hawks and Miller were out. Gardner singled to center for his second hit, Wares scoring when Pepe failed to cover Boles' throw to third. Two more runs.

But in this same inning Los Angeles also did some scoring. Killefer was out. Terry doubled to right. Fournier was out. Crawford doubled to right, scoring Terry. Ellis tripled to left, scoring Crawford. Cooper doubled to left, scoring Ellis. Boles singled to center, scoring Cooper. Krause replaced Kremer. Pepe walked and Fittery fanned. Four runs.

The Angels made another run in the fifth frame and two in the sixth. Singles by Ellis, Boles and Pepe gave the Angels their run in the fifth. In the sixth Fournier walked with two out. He stole second and third and then scored on Crawfrod's single. Cooper singled, scoring Crawford, bringing the total runs made by the Los Angeles squad to eight and left Oakland with their four.

Oeschger and Hogg Are Only Hopes Left Of Stopping Giants

(By H. C. HAMILTON,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Unless Pat Moran unleashes a lot more baseball than he so far has been unable to trot out for the inspection of the Giants, the blame for a long lead on the National League pennant will be chargeable within a few days directly to the Eastern wheel of Governor John K. Tener's circle of ball clubs. So far, the Giants have met only the weak Eastern clubs of the National League. And so far the Giants have tossed off just one matinee, the honor for which belongs to Larry Cheney, spitballist of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Phillies have used up Erskine Mayer and Mike Prendergast in the strategical retreat before the McGraw hordes. Moran has one ace left in the hole in Joe Oeschger and an alleged ace in Bradley Hogg. Maybe they can stop the Giants—and maybe they can't.

As time goes on it becomes more and more evident that the White Sox are going to be forced into a sincere reckoning with the Boston Red Sox before they cut their initials on another American League championship. The convincing way in which Ed Barrow's trained troops are ripping through their opposition shows no good omen for the Chicagoans.

The champs, however, are now off to a good start and will be ready to take on the rest of the league when the time comes. Joe Benz' appearance yesterday against the Indians was encouraging to White Sox fans, for the former star seems to have gained some of his old-time effectiveness.

Moore Shipyard Crew Accuses the Police of Sidestepping Race

George Fitzpatrick, captain of the Moore shipyard rowing crew, thinks so well of his gang of oar pullers that he wants to match them with Jim Garvin's police department crew at any time. Fitzgerald claims that he has already sent a challenge to Garvin, but has received no reply, and claims that the police crew is trying to dodge the contest with them.

Fitzpatrick also claims the championship for the shipyard rowing crews, and there is hardly anyone who will dispute his claim, as none of the other shipyards has given much attention to the art of rowing. But at the last meeting of the Shipbuilders' Athletic association, a committee was appointed and it will get busy in interesting the yards in rowing.

The following are members of the Moore shipyard rowing crew: Geo. Fitzpatrick, coxswain; J. Brewer, pilot; C. Monroe, W. Atkinson, J. Laplant, R. Phillips, E. Williams, C. Swift, T. D. Beete, Bart Koehler, W. Taylor, B. B. Bennett, H. Williams and W. Ketton; extra, G. Williams.

Ball League of Army and Navy Teams Will Soon Be Formed

A six-team army and navy baseball league will be formed from teams of the different army and navy quarters about the bay next Monday night at a meeting to be held in the St. Francis Hotel at San Francisco. Cliff McCarl, former Seal and semi-pro player on the east bay lots and now connected with the Y. M. C. A. at the Presidio, is one of the organizers of the plan, and proposes to have games between army and navy teams played each Wednesday and Saturday of the week. Games will be played at Mare Island, Presidio, Yerba Buena Island, and Ewing Field. The following will be representatives at the meeting Monday night: Yerba Buena Island, Lieutenant Dolan; Camp Fremont, Captain Hedges and Athletic Coach White; Mare Island, Duffy Lewis and Otto Fritsch; Presidio, Captain Purdy and Lieutenant Butler. The team from Mare Island will not be the Marines, who will open its season in the Central California League next Sunday at Crockett.

Shipbuilders May Have to Call Off Tuesday's Carnival

The athletic carnivel of the Shipbuilders' Athletic Association billed to be staged at the Auditorium next Tuesday night may have to be put over until the following week, to permit the Grand Army men to hold a celebration which they have planned for next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. President Gliddon of the Association is trying to arrange with the Grand Army men to make the athletic carnival a part of their celebration, and if that can be done, the Association will offer a double main event in their boxing card. The events would be Dundee vs. Leopold and Downey vs. Schaffer. The matchmakers had five other bouts billed, but it looks like the show will have to go over until the following week, as the Grand Army men already have their entertainment planned for Tuesday night.

Nine Errors Behind Shader Give Leard's Seattle Boys a Win

Bill Leard's Seattle bunch got off to a good start in the Pacific International league in the opening games yesterday and they picked on our old friend Mickey Shader as the victim. Mickey pitched for Aberdeen and his teammates piled up a nice little total of nine errors behind him, giving Seattle an 8 to 1 win.

Downey, the local boy, was behind the bat for Leard's team. Tacoma took a 14 to 1 game from Spokane and Vancouver's 3 to 2 win over Portland was about the only game that made the league look like an organization entitled to claim the same rating as the Coast league. Following are the results of the opening games:

At Portland—	R.	H.	E.
Vancouver	3	8	0
Portland	2	9	2

Batteries — Slattery and Boezle; Rapp and Cox.

At Tacoma—	R.	H.	E.
Spokane	1	4	6
Tacoma	14	12	1

Batteries—Battiste and Marshall; H. Pillett and Stevens.

At Seattle—	R.	H.	E.
Aberdeen	1	3	9
Seattle	8	9	2

Batteries—Shader and Rowland; Leroy and Downey.

"Slim" Love Wins Tight Pitching Duel Over Vean Gregg

Slim Love for New York, and Vean Gregg for Philadelphia, staged a fine left-handed pitchers' duel for seven innings, after which Gregg was taken out to let Oldring bat for him. Love gets a 2 to 0 win over the Athletics, while the defeat is charged to Gregg, as New York had gathered one run off him in the fifth. Love allowed three hits in the nine innings, while the same number was made off Gregg in the seven. Peckinpaugh and Hannah each got a hit for New York, while Bodie went hitless.

"Chick" Gandil had a great day with the stick when Chicago defeated Cleveland 13 to 3. Gandil drove out four hits and scored as many runs in five trips to the plate. Weaver and McMullin each got a hit, but McMullin scored three runs. Agnew got a double and single when Babe Ruth pitched Boston to an 8 to 1 win over Washington. Hooper got a hit and scored a run.

Bobby Meusel got two hits, while Fitzgerald went up as a pinch hitter for Philadelphia and delivered a single. Philadelphia lost to New York 15 to 0, and Bancroft, McGaffigan and Eddie Burns of Philadelphia went without a hit.

Hortsman pitched the last inning against Cincinnati, and got by without a hit being made off him. But Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 5 to 4. Chase got a triple and scored a run for Cincinnati. Brooklyn defeated Boston 5 to 3, and Jimmy Johnston did his share of the work by getting two hits and scoring as many runs. Ollie O'Mara also got two hits, while Olson went without any.

WHY SUFFER WITH RHEUMATISM?

Almost As Common in Summer As in Winter

While the damp, cold, changing weather of winter intensifies the pains and other disagreeable symptoms of Rheumatism, it is by no means a winter disease exclusively. Through the long months of summer its wandering pains and twitching nerves are felt by those who are afflicted with this disease.

Rheumatism is a disease that involves the entire system. Its primary cause results from the failure of the eliminative organs, the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels to carry out of the system acids and refuse matter.

Not only is Rheumatism the most painful of all diseases, with its swollen, stiff joints, throbbing muscles and stinging nerves, but it is a formidable and dangerous trouble. If its cause is allowed to remain in the blood, and the disease becomes chronic, chalky deposits form at the joints, and they are rendered immovable and stiff, and the patient left a helpless cripple. Every day the poison remains in the system the disease gets a firmer hold. The best time to get rid of Rheumatism is in warm weather; because then the blood takes on new life and the skin is more active and can better assist in the elimination of the poisons. External applications may sometimes relieve the pain temporarily, but they cannot have any effect on the disease. The blood must be treated before a cure can be effected.

S. S. S., a remedy made from roots, herbs and barks, is the best treatment for Rheumatism. It attacks the disease at its head, and by neutralizing the acid, driving it out, and building up the blood so it can supply nourishment and strength to every part of the body, it drives out Rheumatism permanently. Being purely vegetable, it will not injure the system, as do medicines which contain Potash or some other mineral ingredient. S. S. S. tones up every part of the body by its fine tonic properties. While cleansing the blood of all poisons it builds up the appetite and digestion and completely relieves Rheumatism. If you are worried with the nagging pains of Rheumatism, do not wait for it to become chronic, but begin the use of S. S. S. today and purge the blood of every particle of the poison. Write for our book on Rheumatism and any medical advice. Address 410 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. —Advertisement.

George Broadhurst's notable play, Innocent," with the famous screen star Fannie Ward in the title role, began a limited engagement of four days at the T. and D. today as one of the features of a houble-header program which also includes "The Other Woman" with Peggy Hyland. Fanny Ward's reappearance in as great a production as the Broadhurst drama assures the public of a veritable revelation in acting and gorgeousness of setting. "Innocent" was one of the biggest of metropolitan stage successes, but in the screen version it is given unprecedented amplification.

In "Innocent," Fannie Ward is cast as the daughter of an European resident in China. He has given her the name Innocent because it was his desire that the girl live her life in ignorance of the world's evils and pitfalls. After the death of her parent, Innocent is brought up in the seclusion of a quaint old China chateau.

Eventually the girl is brought into contact with the world and its temptations. What happens? To tell would spoil the story. Suffice it to say that the story as unfolded on the screen is so intensely dramatic as to place it among the screen masterpieces of the season. "Innocent," it is safe to prophesy, will be immensely popular with Oakland audiences.

"The Other Woman," with Peggy Hyland in the lead is a drama of every day life in which every woman will read a lesson. It strikes home—or should in the household of many American families. An excellent cast supports the star.

The usual number of T. and D. features support the present program of two headliners. Frank Spaulding, the navy soloist, who has won such popularity with Oakland audiences, will be retained to sing patriotic songs. Allen Lane's organ recitals will include among the selections, "Three Wonderful Letters From Home." Tickner's orchestra will again offer symphony concerts that have won such favor among music lovers.

Girls Will Race at Idora Park Beach

Two feature attractions are scheduled for Idora Park Saturday and Sunday.

Uncle Sam's fighting men in khaki will stage an army athletic carnival Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the big stadium, holding a series of track and field events.

And in the evening a military ball will be held in the dance pavilion with the Sixty-second Regimental Band furnishing the syncopated music.

Sunday afternoon speedy mermaids will contest for honors in the national 150-yard backstroke swim. The backstroke is one of the most difficult strokes known to swimmers. It is interesting to spectators as well as aquatic fans. Claire Galligan and Charlotte Boyle are rehalming in Oakland to participate in this event.

Meanwhile Idora continues to attract the fun seekers. Every afternoon and evening young and old find enjoyment at the park. Skating, dancing, swimming, joy rides. These are the things offered the Idora fan.

Lona La Mar Draws Crowds at Orpheum

Will Leona La Mar solve my problem?"

This is the one leading question in the bay region today. Everyone is asking it. Leona La Mar, mindreader and mess, headliner at the Orpheum this ek, is besieged, on the street, at the el Oakland, in the theater—everywhere ith questions, written and mental. Orpheum telephone bell is ringing ntantly with appeals to Manager Cor- to ask Miss La Mar something for e anxious person. Miss La Mar is swering everything that is asked her, still the questions come. She has ady told hundreds of mothers, fathers, es and sweethearts of the welfare of ir loved ones in France; and some- also sad news. In the demonstra- held in The TRIBUNE office Satur- she announced to the wife of James son his death at the front. The news e by telegraph a few minutes after- d. She has guided hundreds in busi- affairs, love affairs and in other s.

eona La Mar, at the Orpheum this ek, is offering what all scientists who e seen it declare to be the absolute ce of mental power. She has scientifically demonstrated that she can read the nds of others, near her, or thousands miles away. She can cast her mind oss the Atlantic and see anyone there is asked to tell of. She can look into minds of business men and see their ntions. She can look into the sixth dow of the soul.

iss La Mar plans a Friday matinee for men only, where any questions of a icate nature may be asked and answered. She will answer questions in aled letters Thursday. She plans a reception on the stage Wednesday, where ose needing her advice may interview personally.

splendid vaudeville accompanies Miss L. Mar. "Exemption," a clever satire on the draft, is one feature. McCart and Bedford in their clever conceit, "Love, Honor and Obey," is another special feature. The "Dude and the Scot" (Burley and Hall), will offer a broad line of Caledonian comedy, and the Natalie Sisters, Gen Lewis, the English comedienne; Ytes and Reed, Pathe News, Christie Comedy and other big features are on the week's program.

The Greater Morgan Dancers and Margaret Edwards, "The Perfect Girl" and ex-Follies star, formerly of Berkeley, are features for the coming week.

"Shirley Kaye" Makes Hit at Macdonough

Breezy as the wind from the prairies is the big play of business and love called Shirley Kaye" which Crane Wilbur is putting on at the Macdonough this week, with Beth Taylor in the star role of Shirley Kaye, the role that Elsie Ferguson created in New York last winter when that beautiful star retired from the stage to marry some big New York banker.

People who like plays that are "chuck full" of business fights and plenty of love affairs, with paprika sprinkled over the whole outfit, will find "Shirley Kaye" very much to their liking. It is that kind of a play.

The time will never come when people will fail to be interested in a scrap between a young woman and a lot of business men for the possession of some particular piece of valuable property, and that is one of the things that makes "Shirley Kaye" such vivid entertainment. You sit back and watch a dainty girl like Beth Taylor go into combat with some old gray-haired railroad magnates, who are intent on the game of destroying the young woman's patrimony, and it is well worth watching.

Crane Wilbur is the breezy western financier of this play. He is afraid of women and cannot get along with them and never could. That is, he never could until he met Miss Shirley Kaye. He starts with a handicap, because his job at the time he meets that young woman is to help gobble up her father's railroad—that was hardly calculated to make him popular with Miss Shirley. No, indeed.

But Crane Wilbur is a resourceful young man on the stage and off, and with even that handicap gallops under the wire a winner in the love race. Just how he does it is worth going over to the Macdonough to look into yourself.

There is an unusually big cast required for "Shirley Kaye" and more pretty girls than ordinarily found in a big drama.

That is when Ida Van Tine and Ruth Saville and Lucile Webster and others are much in evidence this week, in sparkling roles and garbed in very nice clothes.

Will Lloyd and Hugh Knox, John Ivan and James Gleason, Orral Humphrey and all the other members of the Crane Wilbur Company, help to make what theatergoers consider the best dramatic play that Crane Wilbur has yet put forth.

The management announces that George M. Cohan is sending "The House of Glass" to the Macdonough theater next Sunday, for a special production by Crane Wilbur, with Ann O'Day, "the prettiest leading lady in the world" to play the principal feminine part in the George M. Cohan show.

HURT BY FALL.

BRIGHT FEATURE AT PANTAGES

Brightness and originality is the feature that marks the bill at Pantages this week. From the third installment of the Alaskan pictures that opens the program to the snappy little musical comedy that closes it the bill is stamped with the unusual.

"Yucatan" is the title of the feature act and proved to be a musical tabloid laid in South America. It introduced Lee Greenwood, a really clever comedian, and Harry Dobson, a sure-fire laughter-maker, and a well-dressed and snappy chorus. The scenic production is a delight and adds distinction to the act.

For real novelty the Chung Hwa Four, a troupe of Chinese singers and entertainers, break all records. Picture four Chinamen doing a Scotch impersonation act with kilties and everything. When you have done this you have done but a portion of their act. The singing numbers of the quartet are exceptionally attractive.

Martha Russell and Andy Byrne have an offering that is far removed from the ordinary. They present a dressing-room and the quarrels of a leading man and his wife. Then they present the same couple making love on the stage. The climax of the act is effective. In the dressing-room the woman receives word of the death of her mother and the next minute she is on the stage proper again, this time assigned to the part of a frivolous ingenue.

Nell Mack and Vera Volmar present a pleasing singing act, while the Kahler children, two cute youngsters, offer a program of songs and dances. The Strength Brothers open the bill with some really fine athletic feats.

MARINE FILM IS HELD AT AMERICAN

"The Unbeliever," the United States Marine Corps picture which has taken Oakland by storm will be shown at the American for the remainder of the week, the engagement concluding Saturday night. Interwoven with the remarkable military pageant and vivid tragedies of the war, is a charming love story, the heroine of which is Virginie, a Belgian girl, rescued by an aristocratic American. A feature of the presentation is the patriotic prelude by a detail of Marines from Mare Island and selections by the Marine Corps quartet. John Wharry Lewis and his orchestra play an excellent musical score with the picture.

"The Unbeliever" is an adaptation from Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews' story "The Three Things," and is produced with the aid of the United States Marine Corps. Distinguished officers of the Marine Corps cantonment at Quantico, Virginia, including Major Thomas Holcomb, Major Ross E. Rowell, Captain Thomas Sterrett, Lieutenant J. F. Rorke, Sergeant Moss Gill and others of the Sixth Battalion, U. S. M. C. participate in the picture. The production features Raymond McKee and Marguerite Courtot.

Intense in its military value and its value as an example of the sort of patriotism required of true Americans, the picture carries the appeal to national pride the development of a strong man's soul, a friendship that regards sacrifice as a privilege and a beautiful, chivalrous love story of many high spots and a charming conclusion. Virginie, the Belgian girl of gentle birth, caught in the horrible vortex of the war and a victim of some of its most terrible phases, is brilliantly placed on the screen by Marguerite Courtot, while the part of the aristocratic scion of one of Long Island's exclusive colonies, who rescues the girl, is taken by Raymond McKee.

"The Sign Invisible" Is Broadway Feature

"The Sign Invisible" will be one of the features to be presented Thursday and Friday as an Edgar Lewis production featuring Mitchell Lewis and many of the same excellent actors who made "The Barrier" the tremendous success it was.

It is a story of what happens to an embittered and debased New York doctor who goes to the Canadian Northwest for change of scene and forgetfulness. Thrown among people who are entirely devoid of social precept or other evil the desperate man soon finds himself the storm center of a series of events which make a mighty interesting photoplay. There are two of the most vicious screen fights imaginable in both of which Lone Deer (Mitchell Lewis) the giant half-breed hero, covers himself with glory. Some beautiful love scenes occur between him and his Indian sweetheart Winona (Hedda Nova). Mabel Juline Scott as Jeanette Mercier, the clergyman's daughter, also does excellent work. The picture play is of the outdoor type and is beautiful both as to scenery and photoplay.

Other numbers include William Farnum in "The Drive," and a Christy Comedy.

"Carmen of Klondike" Is Kinema Offering

Right into the heart of the gold rush days of the Klondike, with that feverish motley band of men, whose natures returned to the primitive in the face of a lack of law and the ruggedness of Nature's demands, in that powerful play "The Carmen of the Klondike" at the Kinema today and for the rest of the week.

Here we witness that struggle between two giants, each seeking to dominate the other in the affections of a good woman, each seeking to win a fortune amid the frozen location of Peel Valley, the one by honest methods, the other by all of the crooked methods known to that country and some of the scum who went there.

The story is one of a battle of wits, a battle of men against the elements and a battle might and right, with a real big-hearted woman ever in the back ground.

The rest of the Kinema program includes an official United States government war film, a Burton Holmes Travelogue and the latest News Weekly.

Robert B. Mantell at Greek Theater Monday

At the Greek theater next Monday night Robert B. Mantell, foremost classic tragedian of this generation, will be seen in his masterpiece of acting, "King Lear," Shakespeare's drama, which equals in sublimity the best productions of the golden age of Athens. This will be Mr. Mantell's first appearance on the classic stage of the University of California structure, famous the world over. He has long been ambitious to play Lear there, and has been invited several times to do so, but he was never before on the Pacific Coast at the proper season of the year for an open air performance. During the course of his recent performance at the Cort theater the invitation was extended to him, and as his southern California tour extended into May, the best month of the year for an appearance in the Greek theater, he gladly accepted.

Two Features Again On Bill at Franklin

The Franklin Theater has again adopted it's old policy of offering two big feature photoplays on each program and on today's program, it presents Mary Warren and Joe King in "The Vortex," and little Zoe Rae in "The Danger Within," a bill whose wide and varied appeal will touch the heart strings of all who see it. "The Vortex" is a play for thoughtful people. It discusses a subject that all have or will come in contact with. It shows how easy it is for this tremendous force to enter the lives of two people, and the harm, discomfort and trouble it instigates is vividly portrayed in the lives of the two principal characters. "The Vortex" is a play of joys and of sorrows, of love and of jealousy; it is as true to life as any play can be and will interest you because the same thing has probably come into your life at one time or another, and you will be anxious to know how the situation has been handled by others at other times.

In direct contrast to the "Vortex," "The Danger Within," is a drama with a somewhat lighter theme. It is a delightful story of the way in which childish prattle can influence and regenerate an old man who has confirmed himself an old crab. The old man in this case was human only inspofar as he was built in the likeness of man. The sun rose and set on the stock market and his other moneyed interests and he never knew what it was to be really happy in family life. He had no children and knew nothing of the joy and happiness that the presence of a little child can and does bring. But one day the little daughter of the people who lived across the street got into his house, and it happened that the enemies of the old man had had the house quarantined so that the old man could not get to the stock market, so the little girl could not get out. Her lively chatter and whimsical suggestions soon had the old man in good humor and put him in a position to combat the underhanded work of those who were trying to ruin him. This is the basis of a deeply interesting drama that will hold your attention from beginning to end and the charming work of Liittle Zoe Rae will cause you to marvel at her wonderful talent and ability.

POLICE BUSINESS FALLS OFF.

Tonight! Take Dodson's Liver Tone! Better Than Calomel For Liver

Calomel sickens! If bilious, constipated and headachy read my guarantee.

Listen to me! Take no more sickening, salivating calomel when bilious or constipated. Don't lose a day's work!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful tonight, and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning, I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.—Advertisement.

DENVER MOTHER PRAISES TANLAC

Says It Stopped Nervous Breakdown Which Threatened Her Daughter's Health.

"This Tanlac put a stop to a nervous breakdown that threatened my daughter's health and she is now as well and happy as she ever was," said Mrs. J. L. Unangst, of 3237 Alcott Street, Denver Colo.

"For the last twelve years," she continued, "my daughter has held a fine stenographic position with one of the leading firms of the city, and steady application to her work for so long was beginning to tell on her. Her appetite failed her, and she just had to force down everything she ate and was in misery for hours afterwards from gas that formed from her sour undigested food. Her nerves were all on edge, so she got little sleep, and would get up in the mornings feeling as tired and worn out as when she went to bed. She was under such a nervous strain all the time, that I became uneasy, and felt if she didn't get relief, it would be but a question of time, until she would have a collapse.

"She wasn't willing to stop work, so I persuaded her to try Tanlac, and actually from the way it took hold of her troubles, it acted like it was made especially for her. She began to pick up at once, and before she had finished her first bottle her improvement was so marked that everybody noticed it. She has taken but two bottles so far, and it has built her up wonderfully. Her appetite is splendid and she eats everything she wants and enjoys every meal. She is never troubled with gas or indigestion in any form; she has lost that tired, worn-out feeling, and goes to her work every day fresh and strong and full of life and energy. I certainly am grateful for the good Tanlac has done my daughter, for I positively believe it saved her from a serious illness."

NEW LINE TO GIVE ACCESS TO SHIPYARD

Backed by the United States shipping board, the newly incorporated Emergency Transportation Co., of which W. R. Alberger of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railways is president, today applied to the city council for a permit to construct at once a single track street car line connecting from Eighth street by way of Chestnut street to the First street entrance to the plant of the Moore Shipbuilding Co. The application was referred to the city attorney and Commissioner Soderberg of the street department.

That the shipping board will furnish the necessary funds ... the railways company the material was stated to the members of the council by Alberger and Austin T. Wright, who represented the shipping board.

ASKS END TO DELAY.

Wright said:

"The Emergency Fleet Corporation was informed several months ago by its investigator in the Moore shipyards that there has been great discontent among the workmen employed on account of the long distance many of them must walk to work from the car lines. In some cases the men left their work on government ships to go to work in other plants. We investigated the report and confirmed it. Now, we come before this council and ask that every possible assistance be given this project, as a war necessity. We wish no further delay in the matter."

Mayor Davie stated that the matter would be given every expedition possible and the other members of the council were in accord with his views. It is expected that protests that have been made on the part of some of the property owners and others in the district to be covered by the new line, will receive consideration from the council, according to the attitude of Mayor Davie.

WORSE THAN INCONVENIENCE.

"What we want to do is to facilitate the construction of ships," said the mayor. "People will have to learn to inconvenience themselves to some extent. It is time they realize that we are at war and are confronted with worse things than slight inconvenience."

The proposed line will connect West Eighth street so that cars from every part of the city can be run directly to the shipbuilding plant. The plan for constructing the line through the incorporation of a new company is made necessary, President Alberger said, owing to the financial straights in which the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railways has been for some time."

Stanley Moore Given Praise for Bravery

Attorney Stanley Moore of this city was commended today for the promptness with which he acted in the double killing that marked the Hindu conspiracy trial in the Federal court in San Francisco April 22. After Ram Singh killed Ram Chandra Attorney Moore seized the slayer and prevented him from carrying out his apparent intention of slaying others. Singh was killed by United States Marshal Holohan while struggling to escape from Attorney Moore's grasp.

At the inquest today the coroner's jury made the following expression of commendation:

"We desire to commend the courageous action of Attorney Stanley Moore for endeavoring to restrain Ram Singh, and the prompt action of United States Marshal James B. Holohan in killing Ram Singh, preventing the possible killing of other persons in the courtroom.

An ordinance introduced in the city council today by Commissioner F. F. Jackson provides for an increase in the salary of Dr. P. P. Musser, city bacteriologist from $100 a month to $150. According to Commissioner Jackson the bacteriological work has increased 2,000 per cent since the city, under federal demand, has commenced a crusade against social diseases. STUDENTS BLOT KAISER'S PICTURE FROM BOOKS

Because German textbooks, in use in the Technical high school contain a picture of the German Kaiser, several German classes have been near rebellion for several days. Today it was demanded by the students that they be permitted either to tear the pictures from the offending books or blot it out with ink.

Inasmuch as the other side of the page contains lessons, the tearing-out idea was objected to by teachers, and today a large number of books made their appearance with the German ruler blotted out with ink. The students doing the blotting defied punishment.

What action will be taken by the school authorities is not stated. "We must use tact," was the word from the executive offices today. The school department points out that next term the elimination of German classes will stop further trouble.

ESTUARY BRIDGE ORDER IN EFFECT

The War Department order, closing the Webster street and Harrison street bridges over the estuary from 7:30 to 8 in the morning and 4:30 to 5:15 in the afternoon, to accommodate heavy land traffic at these times, went into effect today.

The order, signed by B. Crowell, assistant secretary of war, states that the order is made "through the necessity of unhampered operations at the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation." The draws are being closed to permit shifts of men to pass without difficulty. Water traffic is forced to give way during these hours.

The Chamber of Commerce, which worked with the War Department to have the order made, today received a duplicate of the order to the Board of Supervisors. The order is being cited by the chamber as an instance of the difficulties of either adequate land or water traffic with the present slow operating bridges, and will be an additional argument in the campaign to induce the government to order immediate construction of the new bascule span.

Home Club Will See Little Theater Players

For the first time since the organization of the Little Art Theater, the players will appear publicly off the boards of their unique stage in Tilden's old barn, presenting their initial success, "A Fan and Two Candlesticks" for members of the Home Club tomorrow evening.

Raymond Hynes Arnold, Edward Mulligan and Miss Katherine Drew, members of the local social set who appeared in the cast which presented the playlet on the opening of the theater the first week in April, will play the leading roles tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Daniel Easterbrook, president of the Home Club, with Mrs. George Ellis and George Banzhas, first and second vice-presidents, will constitute the committee in charge of the evening's entertainment. Mrs. Jane Edgerton, of the Little Art Theater, will direct the sketch, and have charge of the costuming and scenic effects.

In addition to the dramatic offering, Jock Rantz, Russian dancer and musician, will present "A Dance Pantomime," to be followed by two piano selections from Chopin.

Only members of the club have been invited. The affair will be staged at the club headquarters, Cottage and Park Boulevard, in the auditorium, which seats 500 persons.

Merchants Back War-Saving Plan

The Oakland Merchants' Exchange at a largely attended meeting last night organized itself as a war savings stamp society, the first to be formed in the east bay region by a commercial organization. Many similar societies are planned directly the third Liberty Loan campaign closes, but following an address to the membership by George E. Sheldon of the war savings organization, the exchange decided upon immediate action. Charles H. J. Truman, president of the exchange, was chosen as president of the savings organization, and Wilber Walker secretary.

WOMEN JURORS VISIT 'TRIBUNE'

Twenty women of the retiring jury panel visited The TRIBUNE yesterday afternoon, inspecting the plant from the roof garden to the basement, and each declared they did not realize that Oakland possessed such an institution. They were especially impressed with the mammoth press that was running off the home edition at the time, and stood fascinated beside the great machine. They liked the rest rooms provided for the employees on the roof, and agreed that something of the kind should be provided by the county for the women on the juries and for others who have business in the courts.

Following the luncheon tendered the women by Sheriff Frank Barnet, they listened to an address by Mrs. Hester T. Griffith, first vice-president of the Women's Legislative Council of California, in which the speaker made a plea for the element of mercy for wrongdoers, contending that after punishment has been imposed sufficient to cause the guilty to repent and desire to do right in future, further infliction of punishment does no good to the individual or to society.

After the address the women were escorted by County Clerk George E. Gross to the meeting room of the board of supervisors, where they perfected the organization of the Women Jurors' Alumni Association. The following officers were elected: Mrs. A. T. Kalas, president; Mrs. Elsie Nusbaumer, vice-president; Miss L. Marion Jacobs, secretary; Miss Regina Mellon, treasurer. Speakers to represent the organization in explaining jury duties to such clubs or organizations as are interested were designated as follows: Mrs. Josephine Dignan, Mrs. Anna Law, Mrs. F. W. Hopper, Miss Flora McAuslin and Mrs. Annie Lerond.

Today the graduates are conferring with the women of the new panel, giving them such advice as is asked and in whatever way possible acquainting the novices with their new duties.

TELLS RUIN IN SOCIALIST PLAN

That socialism would, if applied to the nation, mean a calamity, was the declaration of former Senator George Cartwright today before the Manufacturers' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, at its luncheon in the Commercial Club grill today. He said:

"The socialist overlooks the fact that the more the state does for the individual the less he does for himself, and that private gain is the only incentive for labor.

"Teach your workers that they have no complaint against the economic system. Teach them that many labor agitators are in the pay of the Kaiser."

Frank Mayhew presided.

$31,500 ADDED BY EQUITABLE LIFE

Thirty-one thousand five hundred was added to the Alameda county Liberty Loan subscriptions this morning by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, according to a telephone message from the Twelfth Federal Reserve Bank to the local Liberty Loan committee, through which the company made its subscription.

Of this sum $27,500 was credited to Oakland, and $4000 to Berkeley. B. F. Shapro of this city is given credit by the Liberty Loan committee for having engineered this subscription so that it was credited to Alameda county.

According to the committee, this is the only life insurance company operating in Oakland that has made a company subscription to this city. This is in addition to the amounts secured through policies.

Two Loan Meetings in Auditorium Tomorrow

Two big meetings are scheduled for the civic Auditorium tomorrow; one in the afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock, which is to a Liberty Loan Show made up of acts from all of the local theaters, music houses and the "Oh, Boy" company and Joseph Santley now appearing in San Francisco. The performance will contain many unique features and will also include Liberty Loan addresses by Crane Wilbur and Landers Stevens.

At 8 o'clock in the evening William J. Burns, a lecturer, will present the motion picture lecture "Wake Up, America," which has been highly endorsed by the committee on public information. The films are accompanied by more than 250 lantern slides depicting the atrocities of the Huns in all their horrible details. The lecture as a whole has been described as one of the best selling agencies for Liberty Bonds all over the United States. Admission is free to both events.

Shoemaker on Trial for Alleged Poisoning

On a charge of placing poison in food intended for consumption by his wife Edna, John Arena, a shoemaker of 5361 Thomas street, went on trial before Police Judge George Samuels today.

The case was continued until tomorrow after the testimony of Miss Jessie V. Berry, city chemist, was taken. This testimony was to the effect that it had not been determined the exact quantity of strychnine found in the strawberries offered as evidence, but that the examination had been for the quality of the poison. The defense contends that if there was strychnine in the berries it was not of sufficient quantity to cause death.

Rotary Club to Hear War Correspondent

Sydney Coryn, war correspondent, will be the speaker tomorrow at the weekly luncheon of the Oakland Rotary Club, when he will discuss the present status of the world war, analyzing the various phases of the present struggle on the West front. In addition several Chautauqua artists will appear as special features.

The annual election of the club is set for May 29, when new officers for the coming year will be named. This is to be a night meeting.

SAYS CITIZENSHIP IS HARD TO WIN, BUT HE WINS IT

With tears in his eyes, Johan E. Bro, formerly of Finland, told Judge Quinn six weeks ago that he could never learn the language and qualify to become a citizen of this country. Judge Quinn gave him encouragement and told him to stick to his studies. Today he returned and passed 100 per cent. After he took the oath he went his way to the Berkeley bank to buy a Liberty Bond.

Others admitted to citizenship today are: R. A. Hutchinson, 1034 Market street, from Scotland; Charles Sanderson, 788 Eighth street, from Sweden; Max Vax, 1625 Myrtle street, from England; Anchek Garfield, 431 East Seventeenth street, from Germany; Alice F. L. Higgins, a stenographer, 366 Sixtieth street, from London, and Vincenzo Ziordano, 2022 Eleventh street, from Italy.

BEST CO. OFFICER SUED FOR $100,000

Suit for $100,000 damages, alleging slander, has been instituted by Herbert C. Montgomery, general manager of the C. L. Best Gas Traction Company, against A. C. Hawkins, an officer of the company, according to papers filed today in the office of County Clerk George E. Gross.

The complaint alleges that Hawkins, in the presence of other parties and in the presence of the attorney for the Holt Manufacturing Company, with which company the Best people have pending litigation relative to certain patent rights, stated that Montgomery had conspired to sell to the Holt people certain information concerning the Best company for a consideration of $75,000.

The language attributed to Hawkins in the complaint is as follows:

"I have always been suspicious of Montgomery and have suspected treachery on his part. So I had a dictograph installed in his office at the Best Company and had detectives in charge of it and I can prove by the records obtained that Montgomery arranged with Neumiller, attorney for the Holt people, to sell out the C. L. Best Company to the Holt people for $75,000. The records show the whole scheme. I am going to discharge him."

Hawkins was formerly president of the company, but was ousted at a recent meeting of the directors. He filed suit against his associates on the directorate of the company alleging conspiracy to deprive him of control of the company's affairs, which suit is now pending.

The Best company is engaged in manufacturing tractors on order from the government.

ALAMEDA PLANT LAUNCHES SHIP

Workers today are preparing to install engines and finish the hull of the latest addition to the United States merchant fleet, the W. S. Rheem, commandeered Standard Oil boat, launched last night before several thousand workers, at the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation. The big vessel, of 9400 tons capacity, was christened by Miss Virginia Smith of Oakland. The big vessel is one of three of similar type and tonnage to be launched within the next 60 days.

The vessel, originally ordered by the Standard Oil Company and commandeered while on the building ways by the United States Government, was named after W. S. Rheem, an official of the company first ordering the boat. Miss Smith, the sponsor, is the daughter of J. P. Smith, another Standard Oil official. Officials of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, the United States Shipping Board and the Standard Oil Company witnessed the launching ceremony. The big vessel slid to the estuary without mishap, decked with the national colors and cheered by thousands of workers who gathered for the the ceremony.

Central Leage Should Develp Young Players

By EDDIE MURPHY.

A league that promises to develop more young blood for the faster companies to pick from at the end the season will get under way next Sunday afternoon with the opening of the Central California League, with games being played at Richmond, Crockett and Pittsburg. It was from a league practically of the same class that a number of cs in organized ball filled out their ranks this season when they got young players from the East Bay Cities Midwinter League.

The Central California League promises to turn out more promising youngsters than did the Midwinter League, you can count on the scouts giving good deal of their attention to the games played in the league. Not less than ten players were picked from the inter leagues of the east bay cities, and most of them picked up regular jobs for themselves. The Central California league will be a mixture of ex-professional and young players, and it is by these young players being able to get out and mix with the older heads that the Central California League should turn out youngsters for next season's organized league clubs.

The teams in the Central California League are Richmond, Crockett, Pittsburg, Mare Island Marines, Oakland Commission Merchants and Don Lee Cadillacs, with the last-named team probably carrying the most young players. The team which will have the least young ball players will be the Richmond Elks as Otto Dietrich will stick by the same team which he had last season, with one exception. Dietrich will have one young player on his list, and that one player promises to develop into a dandy little ball player. He is Vargas, the young infielder whom Dietrich picked from the San Leandro Merchants. Pat McDonough, who will do the catching for Richmond, might break into faster company next summer, but the chances are rather slim, as Pat has already been made offers and turned them down.

Bill Steen, pitcher and manager of the Pittsburg (Columbia Steel) team has already picked one of his players to make the big show next summer, while one other player turned down an offer this year. The player whom Bill has in mind is his first sacker, Cole. Cole showed plenty of promise in the Midwinter League, but since the Columbia Steel boys started their new season Cole has been going better than ever. He is a left-handed player, and one of his weaknesses in the Midwinter League seemed to be his hitting. But the way Cole has been hitting the apple in the last few games he has lost all the bat weakness that he had ever been charged with. Sunday he bingled three on the nose, and if he can continue Bill Steen's prediction that he will be in the big show next summer should be carried out. Armstrong is the lad who passed up a chance at last League ball this summer. George is a wonderful fielder, and another year with Bill Steen teaching him the tricks of the game should not do him any harm.

Tom Cahalan, manager of the Crockett team, has not been any too loud in letting out the names of his players for the Central California League, but he will probably carry through with the same team which he had out last Sunday, which would probably mean that "ailing" Tom will not have more than one or two boys to offer to faster companies unless he adds some younger blood to this roster. Many a club in organized ball would like to have Del Crespi on its pitching staff, but Del is a member of the United States army, and there is little chance of his breaking into professional ball.

The Oakland Commission Merchants and Don Lee Cadillacs will be the clubs that will carry most of the youngsters, and with them getting in among the older players, such as Chick Autrey, Bill Steen, Tay Streib, Rod Murphy and a number of others, at least a few of them might learn enough to entitle them to a tryout the end of the season in faster company.

When the Don Lee Cadillacs meet the Richmond Elks at Richmond, Sunday afternoon, it will be Dick Arlett that will be Babe Hollis' opposition in the box. The Cadillacs picked up Dick because of his showings against such teams as Pittsburg and Crockett in the Midwinter League. J. T. Winn, manager of the Cadillacs, has collected up a good lot of fast youngsters, and Sunday's game will be another scene of the "kids" trying to put it over on the older heads. Ernie Shannahan, Lenny Tifer, Ed Mulcahy and Leo Cunningham are some of the boys that are on the Cadillac roster.

The game at Pittsburg will bring together on the mound two former Coast League pitchers in Bill Steen for Pittsburg and Charley Pruitt for the Oakland Commission Merchants. Bill Steen has planned a big time for the opening game and the players are due to get a nice little cut out of the gate receipts. The two teams will line up as follows:

Pittsburg—Streib, second base; Cole, third base; Armstrong, shortstop; Ezig, right field; Brandon, center field; Perasso, left field; Cole, first base; Jones, catcher. Steen will have a trio of good men on the bench in Evans, Botchard and Reisigl.

Tom Cahalan, manager of the Crockett team, is figuring on his ball park holding a record crowd with the Marines and their big seventy-piece band from Mare Island paying a visit to the sugar town. It took much arguing on the part of Cahalan to land the Marines for his opening game, and now Tom is so happy that he will make the coming opening of the season one of the greatest to be pulled off in his town. The Marines will be up against some tough pitching if Cahalan has Del Crespi to do the pitching for the Sugarites. Del has pitched a no-hit, no-run game in his last two starts, so the Marines will have to have their batting eyes well trimmed to hit Del's shoots. Barnes will be in the box for the Marines.

Golden was being counted upon by Bill Steen to cover the left garden for the Columbia Steel team, but Golden has been called in the draft and the position falls to Perasso.

Tomorrow will be the first of the two-day theater party which the local ball players and managers are giving for the benefit of the ball players who are up at American Lake. The boys up there have time to play ball once in a while, and some of the companies have gone so far as to form teams. But what is the good of a ball team unless you have the necessary things to play with, and that is just what the ball players at American Lake are facing. They have not enough bats, balls or gloves to keep all the boys that want them supplied, so their local friends hope to help them along by holding theater parties tomorrow and Friday at the Pantages Theater. Every ticket sold will go a good ways in buying a bat or ball for the boys, so get your ticket from one of the ball players or managers that have them for sale.

Things do not look any too bright for the San Francisco-Marin Counties League to get under way next Sunday, after all. A meeting of the managers will be held tonight at Spalding's at San Francisco and there is talk that the Fairfax team may have to drop out of the league because of lack of grounds. Tiburon has started playing ball and they might be taken in should Fairfax have to quit.

Tomorrow night at Spalding's fan room at 416 Fourteenth street is when the managers who are interested in the formation of the Mission League will get together and discuss the league. G. C. Bradford, manager of the San Jose Bears, will be on the job, as will managers of the Newark, San Leandro, Centerville, Brooklyn Natives and a few more.

Abe Price, the speedy center fielder of Vitt's Grays, is liable to make Red Torkelson, the big soldier pitcher, jealous if he keeps up his work with the stick. Torkelson had the honor of hitting homers in three successive games, and now Price has equaled Torkelson's feat by hitting one in each of the last three games. Keep up the good work, Abe, and you'll soon be there.

Another of Oakland's semi-pro players will leave today to join the colors. He is Pop Hanush, the Allendale catcher, and also of the Oakland Parlor of Native Sons. Pop will report at Fort McDowell.

Harry Morton at 8527 East Fourteenth street would like to hear from a catcher and a couple of outfielders and infielders of about 16 or 17 years old. You can call him at Elmhurst 83.

BOTH ARE BLAMED; DIVORCE DENIED

Judge W. M. Conley, sitting in Judge Koford's department, tried today to reconcile Grace E. and Fred G. Asquith, 1202 Haskell street, suing each other for divorce, but without avail. The judge was solicitous for the welfare of the four children. The parents are young people and Judge Conly pointed out to them that they would be doing their duty by the children and society to reconcile their differences and rear their family.

The husband, who works for the California Door Co., said he was willing, but the wife was obdurate.

"I never want to look at him," she declared. "He can't look me in the face. He lies to me. I don't want him to come near me."

Judge Conley told the lawyers to go ahead with the case and after he had heard the story he denied either side a divorce.

"One is as much to blame as the other," he held, "and neither is worse than the other. I can't under the law grant either of them a divorce."

The wife sued for separate maintenance, and the husband denied her allegations and sued for divorce. Her principal objection to him was that he drank, although she told the judge that she cured him of that, and that he remained away from home and went with other women. She told about finding a bank book in his pocket showing that he had money in the bank.

She refused to give the book back to him, and they had a great fight, to which the neighborhood was witness. But the judge held that one was as much to blame as the other in that affair.

Once he was out joy riding and they had a breakdown. He said he never thought of letting his wife know where he was, and when he came home she went after him, he said, with a knife. The judge said that he was entitled to a beating, but that she was not justified in attacking him with a butcher knife.

There will be all the favorite games of cards played within doors, while the knitters will have reserved their own cosy corner. Says Suit Is Test of Lease's Legality

The purpose of the suit against the city to recover the $2500 deposited on account of a waterfront lease by A. J. Woolsey, according to a statement today by Woolsey, is to test the legality of a waterfront lease such as given to the Union Construction Company. Woolsey says that he desires to enter into a stipulation with the city as to the facts in order that the matter may get before the Supreme Court as soon as possible in order to settle the matter definitely and advise all persons just what the status of the disputed matter is.

Farmer Is Lucky to Hold His Title

SEATTLE, May 1. — Frank Farmer is lucky today to retain the title of coast heavyweight champion. He received a draw decision after a four-round bout with Mickey King here last night. King had a clear lead in the first three frames but the Tacoman came back strong in the last round and gave blow for blow. The bell rang with the men mixing in the center of the ring.

Frankie Murphy, coast flyweight champion, won from Billy Ryan of Portland. Wildcat Leonard Knocked out Red Morgan of Butte in the third. Chet Neff and Frank Tucker boxed a fast battle to a draw.

High School Gossip

The next to last game on the Alameda County High School Baseball League schedule will be played tomorrow at Berkeley when the teams from Alameda and Berkeley highs will meet and this game will be watched with greater interest than has any other game of the schedule. The winner of tomorrow's game will stand a small chance of meeting Technical High to decide the county baseball championship. The biggest crowd to attend any of the games this season should be out to witness the game, and it should be one of the best played ones of the season. The chances of Berkeley having a chance to meet Tech will rely on Southpaw McHenry, while little Montgomery will do the honors for Alameda. Montgomery is a little fellow for a pitcher but he is sure there when it comes to dealing out the work.

Friday will bring about another big game when Oakland and Tech will tangle at Bay View grounds, Eighteenth and Wood streets. Technical must defeat Oakland to win the county baseball championship and they will have a hard job on their hands, as the Oakland team and Tech are strong rivals, and Oakland is a pretty fast club. Kenny Martin will pitch for Oakland, while Johnny Gillispie will work for Technical.

Today is the last chance for the high school coaches to place their entries for the C. I. F. swimming meet which will be held at Neptune Beach Saturday afternoon and Otto Rittler, who will have the taking in of the entries, should be a very busy man between now and next Saturday, as there promises to be more entries for this meet than any other to be pulled off among the high schools.

The high schools from all the northern section will be represented in the big meet, and there promises to be some strong competition, with the winning school being matched to meet the winner of the southern section of the State.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 1.—Opening corn prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ¼c up, with May $1.27¼, and July $1.45¼@1.45⅝, were followed by a material setback, but then something of a rally.

Subsequently assertions that receipts at Kansas City and St. Louis would be light from now on led to a moderate upturn in values, but reports that the East was offering to resell cash grain acted later as more than an offset. The close was weak at the same as yesterday's finish to 2⅜c lower, with May $1.27¼ and July $1.45⅝@1.45¾.

Oats, like corn, responded to peace talk and to excellent field conditions. Besides, no evidence appeared of any pressing demand from the East. After opening ¼c off to ¼@½c up, with July 71⅝@71¾c, prices fell sharply and later recovered.

Provisions hardened on account of May deliveries of lard, having passed into strong hands. Moreover, hog packing for the week in the West was reported to be light.

Corn—No. 2 yellow, $1.70; No. 3 yellow, $1.55@1.60; No. 4 yellow, $1.48@1.50.
Rye—No. 2, nominal.
Barley, $1.40@1.76. Timothy, $5@8. Clover, $18@20. The close:
Corn—May, $1.27¼; July, $1.45⅝.

Pork—May, $45.75; July, $45.65.

War News Is Boost to Prices
Steel's Strength Much Aid

NEW YORK, May 1.—Further favorable war news, United States Steel's excellent quarterly report and recognition of the improved financial status of the railroads contributed to the advances of one to three points in today's stock market.

Steel's initial offering this morning consisted of 6000 shares at 95½ to 96, an extreme gain of 1⅜. Bethlehem Steel, Superior Steel, Republic Iron, American and Baldwin Locomotives, American Car, American Can, Central Leather, Distillers and Atlantic Gulf embraced the other strong industrials and specialties, but rails made only slight response. Liberty bonds were steady.

The usual realizing for profit resulted from the first advance, leaders yielding large fractions. Prices steadied again on renewed buying of United States Steel and other active industrials and equipments, some of which increased their first gains. Offsetting features included Utah Copper, Industrial Alcohol, American Tobacco and Brooklyn Transit, which were under pressure at average recessions of a point. Trading became quiet at noon when another moderate recession occurred.

Rails were the conspicuous issues of the last hour, Reading, New York Central, Pacifics and St. Paul preferred gaining one to three points. The closing was strong.

The movement of prices at different periods of today's trading is indicated in greater detail in the following:

OPENING—The market sustained a response to the favorable news and to the good showing of the United States Steel Corporation for its March business published last night at the opening there being general advances ranging from fractions to over one point in the active issues. There was a scramble to buy Steel common as soon as business commenced, with the opening sales of that stock being 6000 shares, all the way from 95½ to 96, a gain of 1⅜. Afterward trading settled down with the price reacting to 95⅜, later rallying to 95⅝.

Baldwin Locomotive opened ¾ up at 79, but lost most of this gain in the next few minutes and American Car and Foundry, after advancing ¾ to 77¼, reacted to 76¾. N. Y. Sun Review

NEW YORK, May 1.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Under the leadership of the steel shares the general list in today's stock market opened with considerable display of buoyancy. Trading in the first hour was pretty active and prices advanced a point to a point and a half in representative stocks and specialties alike.

Movements were mixed toward midday. In contrast with the steels and equipments, the coppers were disposed to be soft.

It was not until the last hour that the rails swung into line and began to move forward. Gains of a point to nearly two points were registered, the stronger issues including New York Central, Reading, Union Pacific, St. Paul preferred, Canadian Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin Valleys—Fair, light northwesterly winds.

Elsewhere on the Pacific slope the weather is fair. The depression over the lower lakes yesterday has moved to the north Atlantic coast, giving general rain east of the Mississippi river. An area of high pressure overlies the Mississippi valley, causing fair and cooler weather in that section and fair and warmer in the Plains states.

Conditions are favorable for fair weather in this district tonight and Thursday, except cloudy or foggy tonight and in the early morning near the coast in California.

OBEY ORDERS NO STRATEGY SAYS ARMY

Officers and privates of the Woman's Army of the Oakland Woman's Committee, Councils of National and State Defense, are wondering why they should be blamed for filling up the Macdonough theater on Monday afternoon when Miss Mary McDowell of Chicago addressed an open mass meeting. The members say they merely accepted an invitation which came to them by telephone and mail. They deny that they were strategists in any sense. In fact as each individual woman looked around on that enthusiastic mass which did not leave even aisles unoccupied, she was proud. She realized that she had done her loyal and patriotic duty.

No one is able to say just where the hitch came that turned scores of school teachers away. When Miss McDowell was invited to come to Oakland the local unit of the Council of Defense, the Y. W. C. A. and the School Women's Club united their strength and pledged an equal financial support. The woman's army was told it was their business to fill the house. They did.

INVITATIONS MANY.

Over wires and through the mail went out the invitation to come down to an instruction meeting at 3 o'clock and bring all the friends. It was impressed upon the officers that those who had machines should fill them up with friends whether army officers or not and bring them along so that the 4 o'clock meeting might be crowded. They came and were instructed. They listened to Superintendent of Schools Fred Hunter, who was their own speaker, and stayed over for the principal address of the day by the authority on foreign women in industry. They were sorry there were seats to go around when they saw the teachers come in.

OBEYED ORDERS.

In discussing the misunderstanding which has arisen, Mrs. M. A. Anderson, commander in chief of the Woman's Army, said this morning:

"The Woman's Army was urged to assemble a good audience for the distinguished speaker and it obeyed orders. That the playhouse was not large enough to accommodate the large crowd was not our fault. The expenses of the mass meeting were shared equally by the Council of Defense, under which the army works, the Y. W. C. A. and the School Woman's Club. The business meeting of the army was called previous to the general program to conserve the time and energy of its officers and at the same time to help swell the audience which was to greet Miss McDowell. The officers were entirely innocent of any selfish motive."

ESCAPE AUTO INJURY.

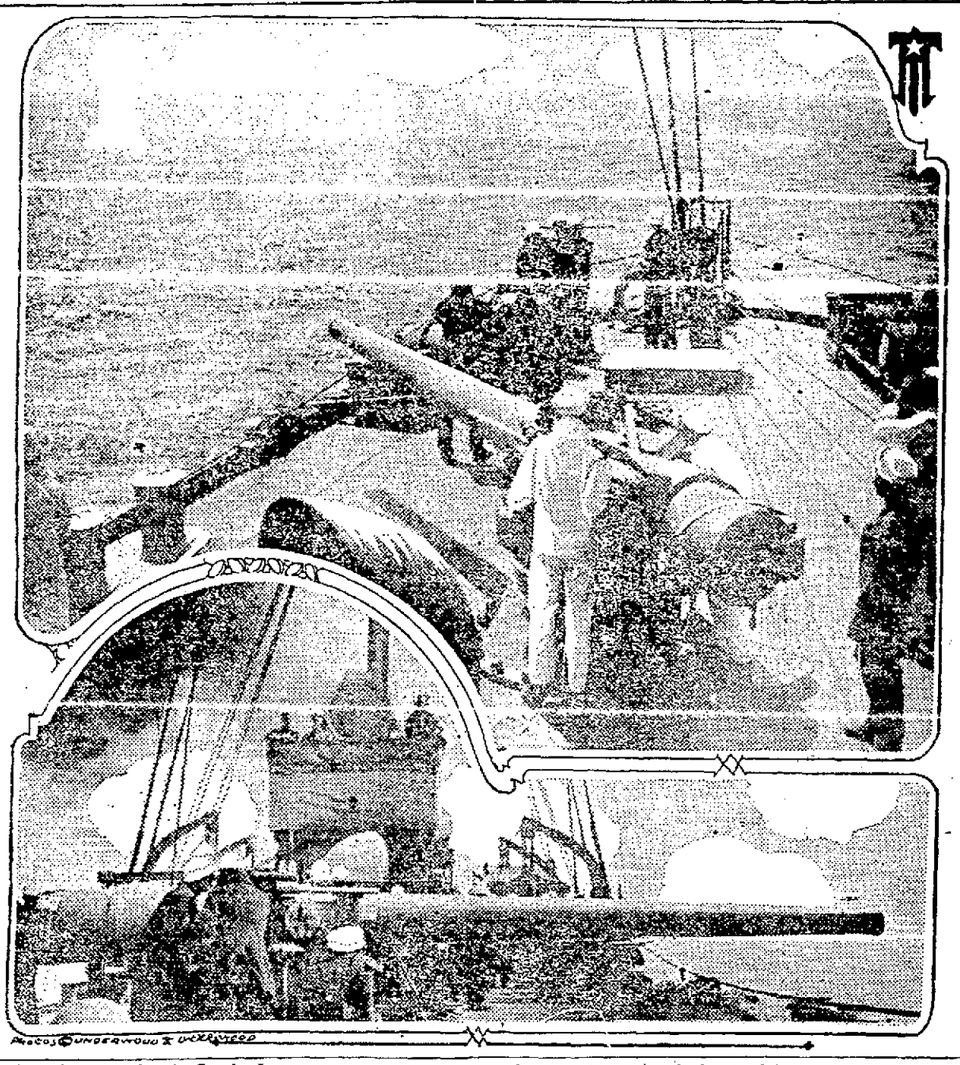

Caught between two passing street cars in scissor fashion, William Hecht, 219 John street, and two men companions had narrow escape from serious injuries or death, and their auto was crushed into a massed tangle of wreckage. The accident occurred at Orchard and Broadway yesterday afternoon. The three men escaped with scarcely a scratch.

Destroyers Spell Death to Divers; "Sims' Circus" Mystery Fleet Busy

On board one of Uncle Sam's destroyers in foreign waters. It was from the deck of this vessel that Herman Whitaker, TRIBUNE correspondent, watched the American boys hunt down the Hun's submarines. Above, gunners watching a close shot; below, a deck prepared for battle.

BY HERMAN WHITAKER,

Tribune correspondent with American Expeditionary Force. Author of "The Planter," "The Settler," "Over the Border," etc.

(Copyright, 1918, by Herman Whitaker)

It will soon be a year since our destroyer flotilla sailed away and was lost to view in those war mists of silence and secrecy with which the British Admiralty camouflages its sea operations. Generally speaking, the policy of secrecy was good; that is, it was good for the Hun. Impenetrable mystery surrounded the "40 [illegible] per cent of submarines" or more marines of which the British First Lord recently informed Parliament.

How they came to their ends, whether by shell, mine or storm, by collision with each other or sunken rocks, or through internal defects of their own, the Hun could never find out. His knowledge on this very important fact could be summed in a nutshell: Afterward two and a half voyages on the average, his submarines never returned, and we have good reason to believe that the mystery which surrounded their fate seriously impaired the morale of the German submarine crews.

For England, a small country geographically and close in to the war, the rule of silence entailed no hardship. Considerable news seeps down to the man in the street. Though nothing was ever printed till very recently about the submarine war, everybody knew that it was going well, and news of individual feats of gallantry soon spread through the nation at large.

In America, however, there are no such sources of information. We are too far away; our borders are too wide. California is further from New York than the latter city is from London. After our destroyer fleet sailed away, it might just as well, for anything we knew to the contrary, have been at the bottom of the ocean.

I took up the question of visiting the base and received Admiral Sims' permission.

"I think that might be managed, too," he replied to a further immodest request to go for a cruise.

But his eye took on a twinkle that I was destined to see again—in the eye of the British base admiral, to whom I reported two days later; in that of the chief of staff of the American flotilla; also that of the captain in whose vessel I finally went out. His executive officer even laughed—and apologized. They all asked, quite casually, how much of a sailor I was, and gave non-committal nods to tales of voyages on big ships. Then they all twinkled again.

ARRIVES AT "CIRCUS."

From the train window approaching the base I obtained my first view of "Sims' circus," as the flotilla has been named by an irreverent ensign. At least, I obtained my first astonished view of the minor portion thereof that chanced to be in port. For the base admiral is a most efficient man. His offices and house windows both overlook the water, and it's said by our skippers that his idea of heaven is "a harbor clear of ships and every destroyer at sea."

I may add from personal observation that never was there a man who did so much to make his idea of heaven obtain on earth. Nothing short of a "salty condenser" will procure from him a stay in port—which reminds me of a question put by a green ensign in our wardroom one day:

"Is the water we drink pure enough to use in our boilers?"

To which was given an indignant chorus: "Of course not! What do you think you are?"

Returning again to the flotilla. A convoy was ready to sail, a dozen or so of our destroyers were to be seen nestling like speckled chickens under the wings of the mother repair ships.

I said "speckled." It is, however, too weak a term for the "dazzle" paint with which they were bedaubed. No wonder the irreverent ensign dubbed them "brick-yards."

Barred, striped, blotched, smudged, ring streaked with vivid pinks, arsenic greens, blowsy reds, violent blues, they looked like—like—like nothing in the world unless it be that most poisonous of drinks, a Frisco pousse cafe. All of the giraffes' zebras, leopards and tigers ever assembled in the "World's Greatest Aggregation" exhibit conventional patterns in comparison with this destroyer camouflage. The exception to this blazing color scheme, a recent arrival from home, looked in her dull lead paint like a Puritan maiden that had fallen by accident into blowsy company of painted Jezebels.

TO FOOL FRITZ.

The object of this wanton display is, of course, to fool Fritz of the submarines. That it might do so by hurting his eyes or the shock of his artistic sensibilities none would deny; but I found it hard to believe that these rainbow colors make a difference in visibility. Yet they do. Whereas, at sea the following day, the "Puritan maiden" showed a clear black outline at four miles with every spar clearly defined, the "Jezebels" presented at the same distance a blurred, wavering mass of color. It was difficult to tell how from stern or judge their direction. They presented about as fair a target as a darting hummingbird.

The vessel I went out on had struck America's first blow in the war by attacking one of the submarines that opposed our transports in the Atlantic. The thought was hot in my mind when after boarding her, my eye wandered from the knifelike bows back over the shotted guns, grim torpedo tubes, along the low, rakish hull to the stern, where two depth mines hung poised for instant use.

Of all the enginery of destruction produced in the war, there is no weapon more terrible than these. The explosion of one lifts a column of water thirty yards wide fifty feet above the sea. One that was discharged nearly 200 yards away from a 30,000-ton ocean liner heaved her up six inches in the water. So terrible are the destroyers only drop them when running at high speed to insure a "get-away," and even then the iron floor plates of the boiler room are often lifted by the concussion.

From the bridge I watched this slender arrow of a ship slip out through the harbor headlands, where a number of other destroyers were at work combing the offing for submarines before the convoy came out. They were beautiful to see, shooting like a school of rainbow flying-fish over the long green seas; careening on swift turns, laying the white lace of their wakes over sixty square miles of sea. Among them, graceful as a swallow, was the unfortunate vessel which, torpedoed two weeks later, now lies with sixty-four of our brave lads at the bottom of the sea. It is only necessary to record that she did not die unavenged.

Were I permitted to tell the number of sinkings to the credit of our fleet it would indeed cause surprise. I may say that dozens of submarines are strewn over the ocean floor around the British Isles. Out of the five sinkings which Mr. Lloyd George was to announce in parliament this very night as being the bag for one day, two were to the credit of our base.

FIRST HAND STORIES.

I heard the stories of some of those submarines while we were circling and swooping above them.

"You see that marker?" the executive ofifcer on the bridge indicated a small buoy as we swept by. "There was something funny about the way that fellow got his.

"A little patrol boat happened to cross his wake. Checky little beggars, those patrols. Though he had nothing but an old style depth charge he took a chance, dropped it at the head of the wake, then listened around.

"After a while we heard calking hammers going on the bottom and knew that Frtiz was down there making repairs. So we sent out a radio and a destroyer came up and dropped a big charge of TNT squarely on top of Fritz. His oil came up in gushes and a diver found him lying on his side like a dead whale, split wide open, like a gutted fish.

"There's another lying some miles away over there. The British Admiralty has to be shown before it gives credit for a sinking, and though oil came up in gushes after we dropped the ash can"—thus does the American sailor irreverently allude to the depth mine—"they gave us no credit till another skipper reported the sea covered with oil two days later in the same place.

"Even then they only allowed us a probable sinking. But it is all right. Fritz is cunning; will often pump out a little oil when we drop a charge to make us think we've got his goat."

While he was talking there had been no let up in the combing of the offing for submarines. Here and there, back and forth, the destroyers swooped with bird-like circlings, and no words can describe the thoroughness of the watch upon the sea. From the bridge by officers and quartermasters, by the men in the crows 'nests fore and aft, by the deck lookouts ahead, amidships and astern, vigilant watch was maintained. Multiply this steady eye-searching by the number of destroyers and you may easily imagine that scarcely an inch of ocean remained for more than a minute upswept by a human eye. And yet—Fritz was there.

LYING IN WAIT.

There? Why for two days he had been there lying in wait for the convoy which was now poking cautiously out through the heads, and when he attacked it was like the leap of a lone wolf on a flock with the following rush of shepherd dogs at his throat. As he rose to take his sight at the leading steamer a destroyer almost ran him down. Indeed it was going full speed astern to avoid the collision when his periscope showed above water.

It was only an instant and the periscope was of the finger variety, an inch and a half in diameter. It was raised in that instant scarcely a foot above the water, but was still picked up by the sharp, young eyes of the lookout on the next destroyer. The submarine had submerged at once, but rushing along his wake the destroyer dropped a depth mine that wrecked the motors, damaged the oil leads, blew off the rudder, tipped the stern up and sent the "sub' down on a headlong dive fully 200 feet.

Afterward the commander said that he thought she would never stop. In a desperate effort to check her before she was crushed by deep sea pressure, he blew out all his four [illegible] tanks and so came shooting back up with such velocity that the "sub" leaped thirty feet out of the water like a beaching whale.

Instantly the first destroyer, which had swung on a swift circle, charged and dropped a second depth mine as the submarine went down again. As the first cleared out of the way the second destroyer opened with her bow guns on the conning tower, which was now showing again.

Having no rudder the "sub" was "porpoising" along, now up, now down, and every time the conning tower showed the destroyers sent a shot whistling past it. They had fired three each before the hatch flew up and the crew came streaming out and ranged along the deck with their hands held up.

As the destroyers hove alongside, covering the crew with their guns, two were seen to run back below. They were only gone a minute. But that was sufficient. Undoubtedly they had opened the sea cocks and scuttled the vessel, for she sank three minutes thereafter.

The crew jumped into the water and were hauled aboard the destroyer as fast as they could catch a line, all but one poor chap who could not swim and was nearly drowned before he was seen. Then, in vivid contrast to the German practice under similar circumstances, two of our men leaped overboard and held him up till he could be hauled aboard. It was, however, too late. He died while efforts were being made to resuscitate him.

All had happened in no more than ten minutes from the dropping of the first depth charge, in so short a time that I was still struggling to realize that I had witnessed it, when the executive officer hit me on the back.

"Talk about luck! Here we have been at sea for over eight months. In that time we have attacked submarines and dropped depth charges on several of them. But this is the first time that I have actually seen a submarine surrender, and here the very first time you go out on a destroyer you get in on the capture. Lucky? You must be the luckiest man in the world."

SEVENTY MEN, DRAFT QUOTA, LEAVE TODAY

Seventy men, complement quotas from draft board 2, 4, 5 and 6, entrained today at Fourteenth and Franklin streets for Fort McDowell to complete short units there. The first forty left at 10 o'clock, taking the local train to San Francisco, where they entrained for the military camp; the second contingent of 30, from District No. 5, left at noon.

The men assembled at the city hall, at the headquarters of their various draft boards, and marched to the station headed by the Firemen's band and the standards of the Grand Army of the Republic, which were carried by an honorary escort from Memorial hall, directed by Captain W. R. Tasmas. The board No. 5 contingent, unable to be ready for the morning trip, left at noon, also accompanied by the band and the Grand Army standards.

The second contingent was preceded for a short distance of its march by the United States Marine Band and colors, which formed for its parade at the same time in front of the City Hall. Large crowds of friends and relatives were present to bid the draft contingent farewell. A detail of police under Lieutenant Frederick Schroeder also escorted the draft men.

"KNOW MEN BY THESE PRESENT," SAYS SORORITY

The girls of the Sigma Kappa sorority of Berkeley have set up a standard of manhood by which all men are to be known.

"Know all men by these present," says the beginning of the articles of incorporation of the sorority, filed today in the office of County Clerk George E. Gross.

Who the men "present" are is not given, and they are greatly envied, for the fair incorporators are said to be beautiful, famed throughout the campus. They are:

Helen Millerick Jenses, Helena Irene Popert, Ruth Anna Grie, Alpha Heath, Bertha Owen, Marjorie Bonner and Helen V. Johnson.

The purpose of the corporation is to "promote social, moral and intellectual welfare of members, to foster social intercourse and goodfellowship" and attain the learning of the Greeks. Also to provide the sorority with a chapter house. There is no capital stock and the term of incorporation is fifty years.

Pending the inquest of the coroner's jury into the death of Tony Perry, a stevedore who died in a hospital last night from a knife wound said to have been accidentally inflicted by O. Bertuccelli during a friendly tussle at the Hunt-Hatch Company warehouse last Friday, no complaint will be issued, according to Captain of Inspectors Harry Green. The matter has been taken up with Prosecuting Attorney William J. Hennessey, who reviewed the testimony and then decided that there is not now sufficient evidence upon which to base a complaint.

WOMAN DROPS FROM SIGHT IN STRANGE WAY

Disappearing with her new-born child and her 5-year-old son, Mrs. Catherine Perry, wife of Louis Perry, a farmer of Irvington, is believed by her husband to have been kidnaped in an automobile from in front of the county infirmary. Mrs. Perry had been in the infirmary for several days and left there last Friday to visit a friend in San Leandro before returning to Irvington. She did not appear in either of these towns, however, and relatives and the police have since been unable to find any trace of her. According to Marshal Joseph Peralta of San Leandro, Mrs. Perry seemed to be normal and in good spirits when she left the institution and it is not held likely that she disappeared of her own accord.

Mrs. Perry is 37 years old, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighs 146 pounds, and has a dark complexion and dark hair. Several of her teeth are missing and she has a small scar under her right eye.

She lived in San Leandro until about two years ago, when the family moved to Irvington.
